Pot Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee plans to begin hearings March 24 on increased usage of marijuana and other drugs by American servicemen.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said the hearings would focus on "marijuana toxic psychosis" and its possible involvement with the alleged massacre of civilians at My Lai.

"We should know if drug use influences the behavior of our troops wherever they might be," Dodd said.

Space View

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Wernher von Braun, planning director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, says American "cannot in the long run" keep pace with Russia with a proposed annual budget of $3.3 billion.

Von Braun and Dr. Thomas O. Paine, NASA administrator, declared Sunday on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers" that further space exploration will be expensive.

In comparing Russian and American space efforts, Von Braun said he thought the Soviet Union was ahead of the United States in the development of a space station.

Closing Consulate

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss government announced today it will close its consulate in Salisbury because of the Rhodesian government's proclamation of a republic.

The Swiss had announced they would keep the consulate open, but reconsidered when the United States and six other Western nations broke relations with the Rhodesian regime.

About 400 Swiss live in Rhodesia. The government said the Swiss consulate general in Johannesburg, South Africa, would keep an eye on them.

Oil Slick Cleanup

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— Good weather held a miles-long oil slick at bay today while cleanup crews worked around the clock to skim the slime from Gulf of Mexico waters before a predicted wind shift.

A U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said Sunday the week-old slick, fed by three spraying wells on Chevron Oil Company's "Charlie" platform, formed an oval around the platform and posed no immediate threat to land.

At its longest extension, the slick stretched 10 miles to the north-northeast of the platform, 30 miles east of Venice, La. Both the Coast Guard and Chevron declined to estimate the slick's exact size.

Mrs. Evers To Run For Congress

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Medgar Evers, widow of the civil rights leader assassinated in 1963, plans to run for Congress.

She called a news conference for today at which she was expected to announce that she would seek the 24th Congressional District seat vacated by the recent death of Republican Rep. Glenard P. Lipcomb.

Mrs. Evers

The only Democrat so far among nine announced candidates, Myrlie Evers says she's ready for a tough election battle.

"I'm a scrapper," she said in an interview yesterday. "Medgar taught me. He was always a scrapper."

Her husband, field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot to death in his driveway in Jackson, Miss., June 12, 1963.

Mafia's 'Boss Of All Bosses'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Carlo Gambino, reputedly "the most powerful of all the family bosses in the country," is the new "boss of all bosses" of the six Mafia families in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area, it was reported yesterday.

The New York Times quoted police and federal agents who monitor Mafia conversations as saying the 67-year-old Gabino has taken over the gangland reins formerly held by Vito Genovese, who died last year in federal prison.

Gambino

Gambino, of Brooklyn, also is listed as a member of the Mafia's national commission by the Department of Justice, the Times said. The commission, ordinarily with nine members but with two seats currently vacant, resolves disputes among the 23 semi-autonomous Mafia families from coast to coast when they cannot be settled locally.

Gambino's job is to keep the peace among the six New York area families, the Times said.

Mrs. Nixon 58

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon celebrated her 58th birthday today, one day after her family noted the event with a private family dinner.

The family celebration was held Sunday when all members were present. Mrs. Nixon was presented a Lady Baltimore cake baked especially for her by the White House chef at the weekend party.

The two-layer white cake with caramel icing was inscribed "Happy Birthday, Mother" in chocolate.

Mrs. Nixon was born in the small mining town of Ely, Nev., March 16, 1912. She was christened Thelma Catherine Ryan but was given the nickname "Pat" by her father because she was born close to St. Patrick's Day.

Seek Kidnapers

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)— An army of 15,000 policemen swept through this city of 6.4 million today in search of the terrorists who kidnaped Japanese diplomat Nobuo Okuchi.

The kidnapers freed Okuchi unharmed Sunday night 12 hours after the arrival in Mexico City of five persons whose release from Brazilian jails had been demanded in exchange.

"I pray that lamentable incidents like this one will not recur," Okuchi, Japan's consul general to Sao Paulo, said in a prepared statement following his release from four days in captivity.

In Mexico City, the five freed Brazilians, including a Roman Catholic nun, told newsmen they had been beaten and tortured in Brazilian jails. Mexico warned them against political activity there.

Summer School On Hub Agenda

One of its busiest meetings of the year is scheduled when the San Anselmo School District board meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the library of Red Hill School.

The board is to discuss plans for 1970 summer school, which may be cut as an economy move, and is to consider the first draft of the 1970-71 budget.

Also on the agenda are action on a new testing policy, which was discussed March 3; discussion of the Ralph M. Brown Act in relation to the school board, and discussion of the teachers' negotiating position.

Sen. Brooke Says Study Shows MIRV Not Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said today an administration study had concluded the United States would have an ample nuclear retaliatory force without multiple-warhead missiles, even if the Soviet Union deploys then.

Brooke, seeking to head off deployment in June of the Minuteman III "space bus," urged the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to act quickly on his resolution calling for a U.S.-Soviet freeze on MIRV missiles.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., endorsed the proposal and called for action to prod Soviet and American arms control negotiators into action at the forthcoming Vienna talks.

The MIRV-which stands for multiple, independently targeted re-entry vehicle —is a weapon being developed by both sides. It is capable of shooting as many as 10 different warheads from the same nose cone. The air force will begin deployment in June, using funds already appropriated by Congress.

The Foreign Relations Disarmament subcommittee is beginning hearings on a proposal sponsored by Brooke and 42 other senators calling for a halt MIRV by both sides in testing.

In a letter to the committee urging action, Brooke said he understood "that recent studies in the executive branch conclude that even if a MIRV moratorium were violated by the Soviet Union, the United States would retain ample retaliatory forces for credible deterrence."

He said it was "certain" the United States itself would not require MIRV weapons to sustain its nuclear deterrent for some years ahead. Existing, single-warhead missiles on submarines and on land, he said, were still highly effective penetrators.

Fulbright agreed. He said the committee had let Brooke's resolution, which has been pending since last summer, lapse because some members felt that opposing both the MIRV and the safeguard antiballistic missile system at the same time was virtually advocating unilateral disarmament.

"But when I look around and see the enormous arsenal of nuclear weapons at our disposal —the Polaris submarines, the bombers and the Minuteman missiles —I can see no reason for rushing into deployment of more," he said.

$4 Million Las Vegas Strike Ends

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— The first gambling shutdown in Las Vegas history ended after a 94-hour strike was settled that cost 16 "Strip" hotel-casinos and 14,800 union members an estimated $4 million.

Under an agreement that went into effect a minute past midnight Sunday, the Culinary and Bartenders Union was given a 31.5 per cent pay increase.

Each side said the walkout cost it $2 million. Nevada lost half a million dollars in tax revenue.

Jerry Lewis was the first player at the crap table at Caesar's Palace when gambling resumed early Sunday. Full resumption of service was expected by Tuesday.

The new agreement between the Nevada Resort Association, which represents the 16 affected casinos, and the union provided a 27-28 per cent wage increase plus fringe benefits.

The union had asked for a 45 per cent increase, while the hotels offered 25 per cent.

Under the agreement, a cocktail waitress can make $55 a day.

Representatives of the union and the association came up with a settlement to the most costly strike in Nevada history after marathon negotiations that began Friday night.

Arrests Held Reducing Highway Death Rate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sharp rises in arrests for drunken driving, speeding and jaywalking are among reasons cited by Gov. Reagan for continued reduction in the death rate on California highways.

In revealing the news Sunday, Reagan also noted that while the rate of death for each 100 million miles driven is declining, the number of fatalities still goes up, as more miles are driven by more people.

"A decrease in the death rate can be no comfort to those bereaved by such tragedies," he remarked, in pointing out that 5,080 persons died on California roads last year — 227 more than 1968.

The national rate of deaths per 100 million miles is 5.3, but California's sank to 4.5 in 1969, down from the previous low of 4.6 the year before.

Part of the reason, Reagan reported, is that arrests by the California Highway Patrol for drunken driving were up 27 per cent from 1968. Arrests for jaywalking were up 18 per cent, and 50 per cent over the last three years. Speeding tickets rose 15 per cent, and the number is up 60 per cent in three years.

The governor said he is ordering a special study to determine where and why the major increases in traffic deaths are occuring. He also again called for various traffic safety action by state agencies, and by the legislature, such as giving the patrol the funds to use radar for catching speeders.

Statistically, the report noted there are fewer deaths per 100 million miles driven on freeways than on other roads. The death rate is 2.5 on the freeways, and 5.53 off.

The report also noted that fatalities among motorcyclists continue to increase, up 10 per cent in 1969 from 1968.

In many of the early gliders, the pilot hung suspended by his armpits and his legs served as undercarriage in landing.

Israelis Strike Into Syria

By United Press International

Israeli troops struck twice into Syria during the night in their first raids into that Arab nation since the 1967 war. Tel Aviv said the deepest thrust carried to within 12 miles of downtown Damascus.

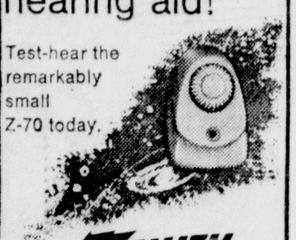

The raids Sunday night and this morning capped a weekend of Middle East fighting that included another Israeli first—a direct frontal assault against Egypt's Suez Canal line Saturday.

Israeli warplanes today raided Egyptian military positions 16 miles west of the Suez Canal in the same area where they struck Sunday. Tel Aviv said all planes returned safely from the two-hour, 10-minute raid in the central sector of the Suez Canal.

Syria carried no report of the Israeli commando strikes, saying only Israeli warplanes raided along the cease-fire line Sunday and killed five Syrian soldiers while wounding 14.

Spokesmen for the Tel Aviv command said the first commando group penetrated 55 miles, apparently by helicopter, damaging a 60,000-volt power line 12 miles northeast of Damascus.

MARIN MUSIC CENTRE
The Standard
THE KLH* Model Twenty is the stereo music system against which all the others are measured.
The Model Twenty was the first stereo system to put all of the performance associated with separate audio components into one package. More accurately, into three simple and handsome walnut packages that just plug together and play.
When the Model Twenty appeared, the experts said that it would take an extra three or four hundred dollars—plus a lot more complexity—to make any real improvement on its startling performance.
That still holds.

The Model Twenty plays mono or stereo records and FM broadcasts. You can have it with AM radio as well. And there are jacks for making or listening to tape recordings, or for headphones. The Garrard turntable, made to KLH specifications, has a low-mass tone arm and Pickering cartridge with diamond stylus. Vernier tuning and a "zero-center" meter help bring in the most difficult FM stations.
But the sound quality is what KLH owners talk about. The Model Twenty has the range and power needed to fill even the largest living room with the undistorted sound of a symphony orchestra.
Come in and check the standard for yourself. Then take it away and fill your home with music instead of equipment.

Knox Seeks Elected BCDC Commissioners

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to have members of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission elected by the voters was introduced today by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond.

The commission's 27 members, representing local, state and federal agencies, currently are a mix of elected city and county officials and of ex-officio members. But none is elected directly by the voters to the commission.

Knox's bill would require the BCDC to present the 1971 Legislature with a plan for direct election. The plan would have to deal with the number of commissioners, whether they would be elected at large or by district, and what geographic area would be involved in the election.

The BCDC's own recommendation to the Legislature last year was for a directly elected multi-purpose regional agency, but it did not favor direct elections for a single-purpose agency. Direct elections for single-purpose agencies traditionally attract such little public notice as to become meaningless, the the commission held.

Knox, however, said "the agency which presides over the density of San Francisco Bay ought to be directly answerable to the voters of the Bay Area."

An appointive BCDC "was adequate while basically a study commission," Knox said, but his bill last year that made it a permanent agency, he noted.

Opposition the bill can be expected from the League of California Cities and the Association of Bay Area Governments, which favor control of such agencies by elected city and county officials.

Shoplifting Fracas Excites Sausalitans

Three San Francisco women have been arrested after a shoplifting spree in Sausalito that included a tug-of-war over clothing with one merchant, police said.

The three—Tina White, 22; Shirley Singletary, 20, and Doris Pasley, 27—were booked into county jail Friday on a variety of complaints by Sausalito police.

Police said the trio first entered the clothing store of Howard P. Luckey, owner of the Pegasus on Princess Street, at about 2 p.m. While Miss White engaged him in conversation, Luckey told police, her companions concealed several articles of clothing under their coats.

Luckey said he followed them into the street and persuaded them to return the clothing, police said.

About 4 p.m., according to police, Rosemary Russel, owner of the Sandpiper at 11 Princess Street, saw the women come into her dress shop and begin looking through clothing on the racks.

When Miss Russell asked them if they wanted to try any dresses on, one of them ripped a price tag off a dress.

"As if it were a signal," Miss Russell said, "they began to take a number of dreses off the rack and head toward the front door."

Attempting to block their exit, Miss Russell said she found herself in a tug-of-war with a woman later identified as Miss White, according to the police report.

Miss Russell said she let go of the merchandise when Miss White told her, "Stand back, I'm taking this." Miss White then ran and jumped into a car with her two companions. The auto went up Princess Street toward Bulkley Avenue, police said.

The car was stopped moments later at Bulkley Avenue and El Monte Lane by Officer Michael Decter, who said he saw numerous dresses still on hangers on the vehicle's rear floor.

When asked about the dresses, Miss Singletary, the driver, reportedly told the officer, "That mxxxxxxxxxxx white woman was so rude I didn't wait for her to put the dresses in bags."

Decter was assisted by Sgt. James Nunes and Officer Ben Barrett, who arrived soon after. Miss Singletary reportedly tried to kick and bite Nunes.

Six dresses and three blouses worth $170 were recovered from the vehicle, police said.

All were booked on suspicion of burglary and being in or around a vehicle with dangerous drugs. Police said pills were found on Miss Pasley, who was booked on suspicion of possessing drugs. Miss Singletary was held on suspicion of assaulting a peace officer.

Bail of $1,500 was set on each, with appearances set for this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

West Germany's postal system also operates the telephone, and telegraph facilities.

Dynamite Supply Discovered

A hundred pounds of dynamite, a supply of blasting caps and a blasting plunger were recovered last night by Larkspur police after they arrested a Corte Madera youth who reportedly led them to a hillside cache where the stolen goods were hidden.

The Hutchinson Co. rock quarry on East Sir Francisco Drake Boulevard reported the blasting supplies missing yesterday afternoon.

Police last night saw a car leaving the quarry yard and stopped the driver, Gerald Claire Crane, 18, of 2 Palm Avenue, Corte Madera.

In the car trunk, police said, they found two fifty-pound boxes of dynamite. Sgt. Raymond DeLeon and Patrolman David Zehnder reported Crane then led them to the detonating box and blasting caps, which were still hidden on the hill. The blasting supplies reportedly were stolen Saturday night and hidden on the hill for recovery later.

Crane, son of television personality Les Crane, was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of illegal possession of explosives, burglary and possession of stolen property. He was held to appear today in Marin Muncipal Court.

The dynamite and blasting supplies were taken to the Presidio of San Franciscop where Army demolition experts reportedly are also studying a detonating box discovered Saturday on the 40th floor of the Bank of America building in San Francisco.

A detonating box and 198 blasting caps were stolen from the Hutchinson quarry on the weekend of Jan. 30-Feb. 2, and have not been recovered. It is not yet known whether the box found at Bank of America is the one stolen from Hutchinson, reported Capt. Charles A. Mattos of Larkspur police.

Separate Accidents Kill Two Petalumans

Two Petaluma residents, a 15-year-old student and a 59-year-old carpenter, were killed in separate automobile accidents Saturday.

Michael Wilson, 15, of 1409 Sarkesian Drive, was fatally injured in a one-car accident at 11 a.m. at Fallon-Two Rock Road and Alexander Avenue in Sonoma County, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Merlin J. Jensen Sr., 59, of 5 Jess Avenue, died in a head-on crash at 4 p.m. on Highway 12 west of Fairfield, Solano County, when his car was hit by an oncoming car in his lane, according to the highway patrol.

Driver of the other car, Stephen Moore, 16, of Sacramento, was treated at Inter-Community Hospital in Fairfield and transferred to Mercy Hospital in Sacramento. His father, Dwight Moore, 41, was treated at Inter-Community Hospital for minor injuries.

The highway patrol said Wilson and Carl Hodges, 15, of 21 Arlington Drive, Petaluma, were thrown from a convertible sports car which overturned after veering off the road and through a pasture. It was not known who was driving. The car is registered to Robert T. Anglain of 1316 Lindberg Lane, Petaluma.

Wilson was pronounced dead on arrival at Hillcrest Hospital, Petaluma, and Hodges was reported in satisfactory condition with a broken left wrist today at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital.

Wilson, a student at Petaluma High School, was born in Compton, Los Angeles County, and had lived in Petaluma five years. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Wilson; a brother, Larry McNealy of Petaluma, and three sisters, Deborah and Linda Wilson of Petaluma and Cindy Withington of San Rafael.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

A graveside service and burial will be Wednesday in Rose Hill Cemetery, Whittier, Los Angeles County.

Jensen, a carpenter employed by Dinwiddie Construction Co. of San Francisco, had lived in Petaluma eight years, after living in San Francisco since 1942.

He was a native of Centerville, S.D., and spent his early years in Wisconsin. He was a member of Carpenters' Union Local 483 of San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Violette E. Jensen; a son, Merlin J. Jensen Jr., and a daughter, Merlee Jensen, all of Petaluma; a sister, Mrs. Chester Anderson of Milwaukee, and five brothers, William of Long Beach, Wayne of Glendale, Los Angeles County, Ernest of St. Paul, Minn., Clifford of Blooming Prairie, Minn., and Vernon of Crookston, Minn.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Parent Funeral Home, Petaluma. Burial will be in Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

San Rafael Crash Kills Prison Guard

One San Quentin Prison guard was killed in an auto accident on Front Street in San Rafael early this morning and another guard was arrested in connection with the death.

Police said the victim, Hector Cantu, 27, of San Francisco, apparently was struck while outside his vehicle at about 2:30 a.m. by a car driven by Denton Stanley Dixon, 45, of Bodega Bay.

A few minutes after the accident Dixon called the San Rafael police station.

He was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving and manslaughter to appear in Marin Municipal Court today. Bail was set at $1,000.

Eight persons have been killed in Marin traffic accidents this year. Five deaths were reported by this time last year.

Sausalito Aide Grant Is Withheld

The financially troubled Sausalito Sshool District was dealt another fiscal blow Friday when the state Board of Education voted unanimously to withhold a $32,996 federal grant until it learns more about how the money will be spent.

Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato, who said today he knew nothing of the state board's action, said the money is used by the district to hire 10 classroom aides who assist teachers in basic skill, such as reading and writing, to minority students.

The state board called for the delay in disbursing the money (even though State Supt. of Public Instruction Max Rafferty had already approved the grant) when Gene Ragle, a member of the education board, said he wanted more information about who will be hired with the funds.

Ragle, part-owner and general manager of a Roseville, Placer County, radio station, told the Independent-Journal today he is asking for a report on what qualifications the district uses in hiring the aides and what the program has produced in the past in Sausalito.

When asked why Sausalito was singled out when all other similar federal grants to state schools were approved, Ragle said he had heard informally that the district was having "rather sever problems." He was unable to identify the source of the information.

Milton Babitz, assistant division chief of the state Division of Compensatory Education which handles the grants, told the I-J he felt the board's withholding of the funds was "only temporary."

Bagley is chairman of the revenue and taxation committee, committee on statewide information policy and the joint committee on national tax policy. He also serves on the ways and means committee and the select committee on the administration of justice.

This year, as the chief tax writer in the lower house, Bagley is carrying the major tax reform of the session.

Last year, Bagley was named "most effective assemblyman of the year" by the Capitol press corps.

No one has indicated plans to challenge Bagley, either in the Republican or Democratic primary elections. Glenn Bernd of Sebastopol has announced his candidacy for the seat for the American Independent Party formed in 1967 by former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

A native of Woodacre, Bagley graduated from the University of California at Berkeley. He heads the San Rafael law firm of Bagley, Bianchi and Sheeks.

Bagley has five children: Lynn, 17; Bill Jr., 16; Walter, 12; Shana, 2, and Tracy, 7 months. He and his wife, Diane, live in Sleepy Hollow.

tricts and the plight of the fixed income citizen."

"It has become the popular thing to jump on the environmental bandwagon," he said. "As a private citizen, I was fighting to preserve our environment when politicians weren't even aware that a problem existed. I have seen politicians sell out the environment, right here in Sonoma County and in Congress. And we of the First Congressional District are the loser."

Kortum, who was born in Sonoma County, follows in the tradition of his father, Max Kortum, who ran for Congress in 1954.

Kortum is a graduate of Petaluma Senior High School, Santa Rosa Junior College and the University of California School of Veterinary Medicine at Davis. He is a fourth generation Californian and a direct descendant of one of the members of the Donner Party.

Kortum is also a Sonoma County chairman for People For Open Space, past president of the Torch Club, Redwood Empire Veterinary Association and the Cotati Chamber of Commerce. He is a director of Sonoma County Organization for A Planned Environment and an active member of the Sierra Club.

Body Of Missing Fisherman Found

The body of a 32-year-old Richmond man who was swept off rocks a mile south of Stinson Beach Thursday afternoon was recovered today about two miles south of Stinson Beach.

Coroner's Deputy Richard Madigan said that the body of Charles Edward Vance was spotted last night wedged in the rocks at a spot called Rocky Point.

This morning six members of the Marin County Fire Department and six Stinson Beach volunteer firemen labored for an hour and a half using ropes to bring the body up the steep cliff. Madigan said the site was too steep for them to use a winch .

Vance was fishing with two companions when waves swept him off the rocks. He is survived by a wife, Jean, and six children. The body was taken to Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley, for autopsy.

was made, and to hear the willing witnesses who have been suppressed by the majority of this board.

"It is unfortunate that I find it necessary to separate myself from the recent actions of this board.

"An attempt has been made to intimidate our school by a threat of recall from a small group of citizens. It is clear that we must place our duties and responsibilities as a board above such coercive pressures. It is not easy for board members to take such a stand, but it is absolutely necessary if we are to carry out the trust that has been invested in us.

"Nothing short of a public hearing can ease the tensions and ill-feelings that are now festering throughout our district.

"I hope that the teacher involved will, in the best interests of our community, schools and our children, consent to a public hearing. The people have the right to know the difference between fact and rumor in this extremely questionable case."

Fairbanks declined to give details, saying he was silenced by the fact that the matter was handled in closed meetings. "It's a question of ethics," he said.

He conceded that he did not ask at any time during the meetings that they be opened to the public. He said he was not aware that the Ralph M. Brown Act allows the boards to conduct all meetings in public, even when they deal with hiring, firing or hearing charges against an employee or officer, unless the employee involved wishes it closed.

The announced purpose of the meetings was to consider the hiring of the six teachers, but Fairbanks said that the issue boiled down to one teacher.

He said that the threatened recall was by about a dozen persons "a little leery of change."

He also said that one of the witnesses was Fritz Thompson of Bolinas, whose wife, Alyce, resigned as a district trustee last summer. Thompson said he "cooled his heels" outside the meeting for about 90 minutes Friday afternoon before he was told he could not be heard "because of some legal complications."

Thompson declined to tell the I-J what he was to have told the board, but said it was something he "overheard in a conversation."

Fairbanks, a resident of Bolinas and an art teacher at Sir Francis Drake High School, has been on the board since July. He has three children in the district's schools.

The board has one vacancy. Mrs. Jane Phillips resigned last week, saying she was distressed by "too much permissiveness in the handling of children, a lack of discipline in the schools, and a lack of teacher direction."

the bridge district but declined to elaborate on it, saying he didn't want to 'preempt the board members."

He also supported the "transit deck" concept, noting that it would cost about $50 million to build the second deck compared to $500 million for a rapid transit rail system.

Wornum told the forum that he supported the second deck on the bridge because it could be done immediately whereas the rail system, if it comes, is still years and years away.

He said everything possible must be done to "lure people out of their cars," although admitting that it would be a difficult task.

Wornum, in a post-meeting statement, also said he thought it was ironic that no members of the Golden Gate Commuter's Association — which has been critical of the bridge district's actions—attended the day-long forum.

Other speakers during the day included Theophus Barron, Jr., president of the Marin Transit System; Clifford Greene, state highways engineer; Phillip F. Spaulding, owner of a firm which builds ferries and Robert Shields, an engineer for the bridge district.

The forum was sponsored by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitor's Bureau.

San Francisco's Pollution Slap

I-J Special Report

MARTINEZ — The State Water Resources Control Board, accusing San Francisco of violating water pollution for 20 years, voted Saturday to halt virtually all new construction in the city's industrial southeast section.

The shutdown, due to be extended to the downtown and northeast sections later this month, was ordered under the state's new antipollution law, which also empowered the state to petition a court to fine a violator up to $6,000 a day.

The baord cannot ban building permits, but barred hooking sewer lines to a treatment plant found to be violating pollution laws. The effect is a freeze on new construction until needed improvements in treatment can be made.

San Francisco's city engineer, Robert C. Levy, who branded the order as "completely unjustified," said it would halt $100 million in new construction, and that the needed improvements could cost up to $400 million.

The state board's action came in the wake of its unprecedented charge on March 5 that several of its regional boards had failed to enforce pollution laws fast enough. The board thus yanked the jurisdiction of the San Francisco regional board over several polluters.

The state board also ordered San Francisco to get its entire dry weather sewage system in compliance with state regulations in two years instead of the four-years previously granted by the regional board.

The only exemption allowed by the state board was for redevelopment in the Hunters Point area, where city officials argued a construction halt would mostly affect minority residents.

State board chairman Kerry Mulligan said that the action should show that the state means business in the battle aginst water pollution.

Extension of the ban to the downtown and northeast areas of the city is due on March 26 by the regional board.

Levy and John Tolan, deputy for development, indicated a court battle was possible. Levy noted that it may be impossible to meet the two-year deadline.

The ban voted Saturday at the special meeting in the Contra Costa County Administration Building did not affect building permits issued before Satruday. The ban will remain in effect until rescinded by the state board.

The board also halted new construction in Redwood City, Belmont, San Carlos and Milpitas until those cities resolve their pollution problems. Dates for meeting board standards were advanced for the Hercules Chemical plant in Contra Costa County and the new Humble Oil Refinery at Benecia over the objections of executives from both firms.

Suspect In Car Theft Arrested

A San Rafael man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of car theft and burglary after allegedly taking a truck from a former employer and abandoning it in a parking lot, San Rafael police said today.

George Edward Taylor, 34, of 815 Mission Avenue, allegedly entered the office of Arneson Products Inc., 64 Woodland Avenue, at 10:25 a.m. yesterday.

He was discovered in an office by Fred R. Myer, an employee, but bluffed his way out by telling Myer that he worked for the Los Angeles branch of the firm.

It was only after he left that Myer noticed a 1968 white Ford van missing from the parking lot and called police.

At about 3 p.m. police received an anonymous call that the vehicle was in the municipal parking lot on Third Street. Checking the bars in the area, police found Taylor asleep in a booth at George's Bar, 842 Fourth Street. The stolen truck's key was found in his pocket, police said.

Taylor was booked into Marin Caunty Jail on suspicion of burglary and car theft. Bail was set at $5,000.

Residence Rules Will Be Studied

An ordinance setting new residence requirements for town employees will be up for final adoption when the Corte Madera Town Council meets at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall.

The ordinance would define four allowable residence areas, from inside the town limits to all of Marin County, depending on the need for the employee in emergency situations.

The council also will consider requests from the Corte Madera Employees' Association for a study of the employees' retirement plan and an increase in the town's payment toward hospital and medical insurance.

A planning commission recommendation that the town assume responsibility for park development on the new library site will also be considered.

Five Injured In Highway Accidents

Five persons were injured in three accidents in Marin County yesterday and early today, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Teresa Farley, 79, of San Francisco was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a possible concussion and a cut leg after the car in which she was a passenger was involved in a three-car accident yesterday on the Shoreline Highway offramp on Highway 101.

The highway patrol said Robert A. Axelrod, 55, of San Francisco was northbound on the ramp when his car collided with autos driven by Claudia B. Sooter, 34, of Antioch and Junior M. Martin, 47, of San Francisco.

Axelrod was treated for a scraped forehead and another of his passengers, Anna Farley, 37, of San Francisco, was treated for multiple bruises at the hospital.

The highway patrol could give no details of the accident.

John M. Dyson, 25, of 100 Bayo Vista, San Rafael, was treated for a cut right leg at Marin General yesterday after his motorcycle flipped over at 10:15 a.m. northbound on the Petaluma-Tomales Road north of Point Reyes.

Dyson told officers the accident occurred when he leaned over too far while going around a curve.

A four-car rear-end pileup northbound on the Golden Gate Bridge today at 12:15 a.m. resulted in minor injuries for one driver, Karen D. Berner, 22 of 90 Hoag Street, San Rafael, who complained of pain but refused hospital treatment following the crash.

She told the highway patrol she had stopped when two cars ahead of her braked and was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Kathleen F. Wilson, 23, of Cotati. The Wilson car was struck by one driven by Edward P. Kamler, 23, of Fort Baker, which was in turn hit by a car operated by John Douglas Grammer, 36, of 1333 Marian Way, Petaluma, according to highway patrol officers.

Truck Found Before Report From Owner

A 1969 pickup truck stolen Thursday night from in front of Pacific Performance, 140 Paul Drive, San Rafael, was recovered half an hour before its owner reported it missing, police said Saturday.

Probe Continues In College Co-Ed Death

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Interviews continued today in the investigation of the death of Eva Lucienne Blau, the Sonoma State College co-ed whose body was found Friday in a field off Petaluma Hill Road, Santa Rosa.

Inspector John Coffman of the Sonoma County Sheriff's office reported virtually no leads in the case, but said the department was contacting her college friends for information that could give cause for her death.

The 17-year-old freshman from Berkeley had bruises on her body and puncture wounds under the chin. Marks on her wrists indicated her hands had been bound.

The sheriff's office was awaiting results from an autopsy and pathology tests to determine the exact cause of death. Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said that toxicology tests would also be made to determine if the girl had been poisoned or drugged.

Coffman said that friends had seen her Thrusday evening. Tests showed she had died at 11 p.m. that night.

The preliminary autopsy reported she had not been sexually assaulted or beaten. When found by a rancher at 9:30 a.m. Friday, her blue turtleneck sweater had been pulled up around her neck and her undergarments had been pulled down across her knees.

The body, which had apparently been dragged 20 feet from the road, was covered with a blue coat.

Training Session

The Marin Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, which will interview shcool, probation, juvenile court and police officials next month in preparation for drawing up a delinquency prevention plan, will meet for an interview training session at 4 p.m. Wednesday in Room 254 of the Hall of Justice.

DeMolays In Special Observance

The four Marin County chapters of the Order of DeMolay are celebrating International DeMolay Week this week with a series of service projects.

Youths from chapters in Mill Valley, Novato, Ross Valley and San Rafael will wash police cars, pick up litter along county roads and place a wreath on a memorial at Novato City Hall.

DeMolay Week celebrates the founding of the order 51 years ago on the anniversary of the death of Jaques DeMolay in France in 1314. He was burned at the stake by King Phillip, as a martyr to loyalty and toleration.

A basketball game between the Mill Valley and San Rafael chapters will be played Sunday at 2 p.m. on the ouside courts of San Rafael High School.

DeMolay is sponsored by the Free and Accepted Masons. Membership is open to young men 15 to 22.

Health Advisers Due To Discuss Budget

The departmental budget for 1970-71 will be discussed when the Marin County Mental Health Advisory Board meets at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Coral Room of Marin General Hospital.

The board also will hear a report by Dr. Donald Wilson, director of the community mental health center, and a report by Denis Ragan of Catholic Social Services on drug abuse school.

Photos Of Old Airports Sought

Photographs of the old San Rafael and Santa Venetia airports are being sought by the Kiwanis Club of Southern Marin.

Charles W. Bennett, president of the club, said the photos are needed for a program, "The History of Aviation in Marin County," being prepared by the club for the Second Annual Kiwanis Air Fair Aug. 8 and 9 at Gnoss Field in Novato.

ART REVIEW

Black Artists Reach Into Backgrounds In All Forms

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Is there something discernibly ethnic about the work of black artists? Yes and no, if the California Black Artists' show through April 10 at the College of Marin gallery can guide our judgment.

The exhibit of paintings, graphics and sculpture by black artists throughout the state was arranged by Mrs. E. J. Montgomery, President of Art West Associated North, Inc. ,an organization of Bay Area black artists.

As a group, if it shows a special interest it is in people, from studio figure studies to massive social comments, shown in powerful painted and sculpted images as well as gentler ones in charcoal, print and pencil.

STUDIES IN HATRED

Fortunately, there are no others like William Henderson's two grotesque paintings which are consummate studies in hatred. One shows the nude body of a black woman, a uniformed policeman sawing off her leg and an animal perched on her stomach eating her entrails, while other dead blacks hang in the background.

In the other, a policeman with a huge bloody knife hacks away at fleeing naked blacks while a hooded figure sits at a table gnawing on a severed arm. Henderson's painting technique has the same uncontrolled rage as his themes. As paintings, they are frenzied failures and consequently, their self-conscious messages go right down the tube with them.

In contrast, there is Elginia McCrary's "Slave Child," its cool painterly clarity stopping you with both its beauty and its potent point of view. In it a chained silhouette stands on a distant horizon while close up, there is the powerful dignity of a black woman's face and a figure in cricifixion pose hung on her breast.

UNIVERSAL APPROACH

Fewer artists seem interested in nonobjective approaches such as Marin resident Pearl Drob's calligraphic swirls or the heroically scaled jigsaw puzzle-like wall relief of rounded polished color. But in this area much that is universal in art comes through. Ben Hazard's lighted heptagonal plexiglass wall piece with its etched inner bird telescoping into infinity, is a raceless thing of label free interest. And John Outterbridge's arresting combination of gleaming aluminum and junk, "No Time For Living," has equal degrees of strength and feeling.

So, from this show it would seem that black artists have the same successes and failures a any other artists. They too work with the things which are part of their environment and which are meaningful to them.

Since black American art has had little exposure, a segregated show of this kind is interesting. It is also something of a curiosity piece. And perhaps the day will mercifully come when such racial designations need not be made and when at least the artists among us can stand on the merit of their work alone.

MUSIC REVIEW

'Purlie' Is Bright With A Minimum Of Tampering

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI)—An unusual example of a minimum of tampering with original material in turning a play into a musical is to be found at the Broadway Theater where "Purlie" opened Sunday night.

This musical is based on "Purlie Victorious," a Broadway comedy of nine seasons ago that had a fairish run. It deals, at a low-comedy level, with how some blacks in Georgia triumph over a wicked white boss.

The addition of songs, and there are some good ones, and a little dancing have not gotten in the way of the story, which is amusing without being rousingly funny. It is a musical on an intimate scale, which is all to the good. A splashy, blown-up production would have been fatal.

This careful treatment of the original material undoubtedly is due to the fact Philip Rose produced both the play and musical; that black star Ossie Davis, who wrote and acted in the play, and Rose collaborated (with Peter Udell) on the libretto; and that Rose directed the musical.

The show is splendidly played by an engaging cast. Cleavon Little is superb as Purlie, a young backwoods preacher type who wants to get back for church purposes an old barn the white boss doesn't want him to have.

Melba Moore, in her second Broadway role, is a delight as a simple girl enamoured of Purlie. She has a fine sense of comedy playing, and her singing is terrific.

The singing contribution of Novella Nelson also is vastly important to the show.

John Heffernan plays the doddering white boss in the required low-comedy style. C. David Colson is good as his son, a singing guitarist who is a friend of the blacks. Sherman Hemsley is effective as a Negro who helps himself and his fellows by keeping in the boss' good graces.

The music is by Gary Geld and the lyrics by Peter Udell, well-known in the pop music field who here have their first Broadway show score. It has been smoothly tailored to the story, and there are several numbers that you may be hearing.

Among them are "Walk Him Up the Stairs," "Skinnin' a Cat," "The Harder They Fall," "Big Fish, Little Fish," "I Got Love," "Down Home," "First Thing Monday Mornin'," "He Can Do It" and "The World is Comin' to a Start."

Louis Johnson's contribution as choreographer is not large, but he is effective when he gets the chance. Ben Edwards has designed the properly seedy backgrounds, and Ann Roth designed the costumes.

"Purlie" is not smashing entertainment, but it is a pleasantly humorous show, with emphasis on the singing and acting.

Clive Barnes, The New York Times: "The music is only adequate. . . but the book is so strong, the performance is so magnificent, that this musical should have you calling out "Hallelujah."

John Chapman, Daily News: ". . .a robust, tuneful and thoroughly enjoyable musical comedy. . ."

GI Is Held On AWOL Charges

A Corte Madera man, reportedly absent without leave from the Army, and a San Rafael woman, who reportedly failed to appear on a check charge, were arrested Friday night by sheriff's deputies in Sleepy Hollow.

Deputies reported that Carl Vestal Hayes, 20, of 2 Harbor Drive, and Juanita Lorraine Litteral, 19, of 1312 Third Street, San Rafael, were arrested at 40 Garden Rock Road at about midnight.

Hayes has been AWOL from Fort Ord since Nov. 19, deputies said.

Litteral was wanted on a warrant by the San Rafael Police Department for failure to appear on a check charge, deputies said.

Vandals Hit Swim Club Facilities

Vandals broke two windows at the Santa Venetia Swim Club, 100 Granlee Road, between 1 a.m. and noon Friday, and threw supplies into the pool, sheriff's deputies have reported.

Deputies said that paint, a pint thinner, rock salt, first aide supplies, dirt and broken glass were tossed into the pool, and they believe it was the work of juveniles.

MUSIC REVIEW

An Excellent Offering By New Group

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

If anything can surpass the string quartet for the very quintessence of music, it must be the double string quartet.

At least this was so last night in the finale of the first concert presented in Lydon Hall of St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon, by the new Marin Chamber Players.

New that is, only in this particular ensemble, for most of the musicians have played together many years in various other groups.

The finale referred to was the Octet No. 3 of the 19th Century Norwegian composer Johan Svendsen, which was played by a double string quartet composed of violinists Charles Meacham, Michael Gerling, Fernando Claudio and Ezekiel Amador, violists Asbjorn Finess and Lucien Mitchell and cellists Jean Mitchell and Eugene Winkler.

UNFAMILIAR WORK

Part of the interest centered in its being an unfamiliar work by a seldom heard composer. Rich in texture and requiring much technical skill, it tested the musician's accomplishments in many way. In rhytums and melodies it was often reminiscent of folk songs. Most captivating was the second scherzo movement with its elfin wit and fine dynamic shadings.

Balance among instruments was excellent, and the performance was one of great strength, precision and verve.

Also new to me was Lydon Hall, a fine setting for chamber music, though when the musicians played on the stage in the first number, the J.S. Bach Brandenburg Concerto No. 6, the stage curtains had a slightly deadening effect on resonance for the two cellos in the back. One more instrument and more brilliant sonorities over came this in the octet.

The most interesting part of the concerto was the instrumentation selected, which was highlighted by the unusual leading role of two violas, played with warm, glowing tone by Finess and Mitchell, and with Jean Mitchell's cello also in a solo role. Only in the rondo did the three solo instruments seem to have fairly equal status. The violas were the stars of the piece .

SORT OF CONTINUO

Other musicians providing a sort of continuo were Robaline Meacham on the harpsichord, Winkler and Nicolau Hohloff, cello, and Carl Modell, bass. Perhaps because the Brandenburg Concertos are so often heard takes a dazzling reading to be exciting, the total effect did not have quite the impact it might have.

Featured in the middle number, the Beethoven Quartet in E Flat Major for Strings and Piano Op. 16, was the Marin Double Duo composed of the husband-wife teams of the Meachams and Mitchells.

Robaline Meachum provided a solid foundation for the work on the piano, marked by some exceptionally fine ornamental work, while the other three musicians carried themes in various combinations in splendidly complementary fashion.

Played on the floor in front of the stage because of the piano placement, the performance was a little difficult to follow visually.

Chamber music lovers should watch for announcements of future concerts of this excellent group.

'Shrew' As A Western Is Excellent

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

If you like your Shakespeare dished up straight, better not venture into the Studio Theater at College of Marin or you might just blow your mind.

But for the adventuresome, James C. Dunn's Old West-Italian "Taming of the Shrew" is really a trip and a half. He has placed the "Shrew" in the old frontier of Northern Italy with a cast as grubby and mean looking as to be found anywhere. It is not a production, however, given to reckless abandon, but skillfully presented even though at times it may be a little too over exhuberant. Also the Bard's 16th Century blank verse fits in perfectly, too.

As program notes point out, the "seed of inspiration" came from "A Fistful of Dollars," "For a Few Dollars More," and "The Good, The Bad and The Ugly" — westerns made in Italy which made a superstar out of Clint Eastwood.

For this production Dunn has assembled a uniformly excellent cast headed by veteran Mark Rasmussen as Petruchio. He is a skillful young actor, growing better in each new challenging role. You must see him to appreciate his Old West swashbuckling in pursuit of Katherine.

Reynold Acevedo is equally as masterful as Rasmussen as the seedy gunslinger sidekick (servant in the traditional "Shrew," as Grumio.

Matching these two is Cynthia Keener as the rough and tough Katherine — a Calamity Jane type this time.

Miss Keener never lets up, she's a cunning little wildcat till the end.

As Baptista Minola, this time around as the sheriff of Padua, J. W. Harper is wonderful in his getup as the hapless father who finally finds a match for Kate and several suitors for his "little girl" Bianca, played in a true Southern Belle accent by Stephanie Saunders, who alternates with Roxanne Wilkinson.

Barry Nicol, another seasoned performer, is marvelously funny as Gremio, a suitor to Bianca, who is garbed as the town's undertaker.

The other principals, David Brown as Lucentio, who finally wins Bianca's hand; Robert Nicol as Curis, another of Petruchio's sidekicks; Bruce Webster as Hortensio; Lucentio's other two servants, John Evans as Tranio, and Rick Casorla as Biondello, and Rufus Gartrell as the cigar-puffing Vincentio, a merchant of Pisa, lend considerable weight.

Also mention must be given to Peter Greenfield as the tailor; John Edmister as the haberdasher; Geoffery Garrison as Pedant; Sarah King as the widow; the local color, John Iacono and Robert Cooper, and the "ladies", Pamela Contos and Victoria D-Orazi.

The Studio Theater, which is located in the basement of the Fine Arts Building, is ideally suited for this production. The set is a marvel. It really boggles the mind. Where did Dunn and company find so much western memorabilia?

Mix in the costumes, Petruchio's wooden horse, a little live hen on the balcony, and Richard Stark's amusing rinky-tink piano accompaniment, it's an evening to savor.

For followers of Dunn and his collegians, this "Shrew" is a must. It will be presented again Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m., and also April 1, 2, 3, 4 and 8, 9, 10, 11.

Supervisors Schedule Late Start

Marin County Board of Supervisors will get a late start on its regular meeting agenda tomorrow because it will first sit as the Marin County Transit District.

The supervisors' regular meeting is expected to start sometime after 10 a.m. in the Civic Center.

The board will seek nominations to replace two vacancies on the Marin County Human Rights Commission, discuss policy on whether county employees should get time off on Good Friday, and get a report on the responsibility of ambulance companies to tranport victims who are deemed to be dead by the ambulance driver.

A petition will be presented urging a birth control program for cats and dogs.

Supervisors will meet jointly at a luncheon with the Marin Humane Society officials in Ignacio to discuss animal control programs.

The afternoon agenda includes preliminary plans for a girls' dormitory at Marin Juvenile Hall, report on the proposed Golden Gate Marathon from Tiburon to San Francisco and a request by Supervisor Michael Wornum that plans be started for a new sewage treatment facility serving Richardson Bay as recommended by the 1967 Brown and Caldwell report.

Four Tires Stolen

Four tires valued at a total of $175 were stolen Friday night from the Northgate Shell Station, 950 Del Presidio Boulevard, San Rafael, police said.

Gov. Maddox To Seek No. 2 Georgia Post

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox announced today he will be a candidate for lieutenant governor in this year's elections, but said he is withholding a decision on whether he will switch to the Republican party.

The Georgia Democrat, also told a news conference his wife, Virginia, will not be a candidate for governor.

Maddox said his decision on whether to switch parties will depend on whether the Republicans can convince him such a move would be in the best interests of the state.

"My plan, at this time, is to stay in the Democratic party, but I could change in a few minutes," Maddox said.

He said he will make a final decision within a week.

Maddox, who was elected by the General Assembly in 1966 after running second to Republican Howard H. "Bo" Callaway in the general election for governor, said he decided to run for lieutenant governor so that he could "continue to provide a strong voice for the people."

If elected, he said, "I promise that the programs we have worked on will continue. The people's involvement will continue."

Maddox's announcement came two weeks after the U.S. Supreme Court declined to hear an appeal of a suit he had filed seeking to succeed himself in the governor's office.

On several occasions, Maddox had mentioned the possibility that his wife would run for the top office if he were unable to do so.

Al Hirt Plays With Bad Lip

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Hirt has played a Carnegie Hall concert for the first time since his lip was cut by a brick thrown during the Mardi Gras parade in New Orleans last month.

"Bear with me folks," he told the audience before he started Saturday night.

The audience applauded generously but the critics gave mixed reviews.

Hirt, who played with his upper lip shot full of cortisone, received 15 stitches Feb. 15 after a youth threw the brick while the trumpeter rode on a float with 16 other celebrities.

MILL VALLEY'S GUIDING LIGHT

Librarian Leaving Post Soon

By DAVID DIETZ

All retirements are sad, but Dorothy M. Thomas, who is in her 20th and final year as Mill Valley librarian, thinks she will leave the store in good hands.

"I feel fine about retiring since I know the library will find an experienced person to take over," said Mrs. Thomas, who departs May 1. "There is a certain advantage to having someone come in with new ideas.

New ideas or not, her successor will find a lot to take care of. First, there is the cozy new library building, nudged amid a grove of redwoods and winner of two major architectural awards. Second, there's a growing book collection and circulation and increasing use of the library as a community center. Then there's . . . oh, yes . . . a pudgy tomcat named Flower Bower Gower Champion, who walked in the door three years ago and now has the run of the place.

Each is symbolic of the Thomas administration, having transformed the cold routine of a library visit into a brightening experience, but she declines personal credit.

"It's a very satisfing town to work in because of residents' interest in their library," she said. "And because of their interest, they have supported it well."

For Mrs. Thomas, a soft-spoken but spirited woman, Mill Valley was the last stop in 1950 of a career that spanned two decades and carried her across both oceans.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., she had originally planned upon graduation from the University of Buffalo to become a high school librarian because of reports of good pay, but wound up as a reference librarian.

Later, lured by travel opportunities and a job offer at the American Library in Paris, she went to Europe — and met the man she was to marry. Ironically, Sydney F. Thomas, now a certified public accountant in San Francisco, was also from Buffalo, and had even attended the same grammar school as his wife, but the pair had never met — until he went to Paris on a business trip.

After a year at the Paris library, she returned to Buffalo, marrying in 1930 and resuming work as a reference librarian. That job lasted seven years, whereupon she followed her husband to his new job in California.

It was in Chico, where the couple settled, that Mrs. Thomas's career was abruptly detoured. The couple took an interest in gold mining and leased a mine near Paradise in Butte County.

"We lived at the mine and employed a few miners, but it didn't turn out to be a paying operation when World War II started. The cost of materials went up and you would spend too much money to get from one pocket (of gold) to the next."

That having ended, Mrs. Thomas followed her husband on his civilian and Naval career that took them to New York, Washington, D.C., Guam, Seattle, Sausalito and finally, in 1946, Mill Valley, although the couple later moved to Corte Madera, their current home. She held various jobs along the way, landing the Mill Valley post in 1950.

The library at that time was crowded into two floors of the aging Carnegie Building on Lovell Avenue. Several years later — with books often stacked seven deep to save space and others stored, inconveniently to be sure, in Petaluma — a new library became urgent.

Depsite the handicaps, the library in 1962 became the first in California to win a $1,000 Dorothy Canfield Fisher Award sponsored by the Book-of-the-Month Club.

After two narrow defeats at the polls, in 1956 and '58, a bond issue was successful in 1964, paving the way for opening two years later of a new $493,000 library at the Throckmorton Avenue fringe of Old Mill Park. The building, warm and imaginative with towering windows that expose the lush surroundings, has an art gallery and meeting room, in addition to spacious reading areas.

"The building attracts a great many people who couldn't use or weren't interested in the old library," Mrs. Thomas said. "With a larger, modern building, we're able to do more things."

Community activities range from meetings of investment groups to chamber music concerts to lectures on such notorious characters as Black Bart, the frontier outlaw — all encouraged by Mrs. Thomas.

Use of the library's collection, which now totals 66,217 as compared with 19,260 in 1950, has also increased. Circulation in 1950 was 67,236. In 1969, it was 264,356. Cardholders number 6,128, about half the population of Mill Valley, although many outside residents regularly draw from its shelves.

Mrs. Thomas said membership in several library organizations, including the North Bay Cooperative Library System, opens the resources of most of the state's libraries to Mill Valleyans. Mrs. Thomas helped develop and is former chariman of the board of the Bay group, and also has served as president of the Golden Gate District and as legislative chairman of the California Library Association.

As to the tastes of her customers, Mrs. Thomas observe less interest in foreign affairs, particularly European, but a surge in the crafts, the environment and the culture and history of black people — reflective, she said, of current social and political mood.

"I'm not in favor of censorship," she said. Through it, she believed, "you're calling attention to things which under normal circumstances would be of interest to only a certain number of people."

She said the pleasure of reading is in gaining "an idea of how other people think . . . getting someone else's ideas." Upon retirement, she plans to "catch up on reading" and "do whatever I please."

San Quentin Inmate Holds Wife Hostage Three Hours

A 31-year-old San Quentin inmate held his wife hostage for a tense three hours yesterday, a sharpened piece of metal at her throat, in front of their five children and prison officials.

Officials said that the inmate John L. Nelson pulled out the weapon at 2:20 p.m., the close of visiting hours in the visiting room and demanded that they not approach or he would cut her throat.

He held her hostage until after he was allowed to make a telephone call to his mother in San Diego, and then he surrenered at 5:20 p.m.

His wife and five children three boye and two girls, ranging in ages from 7 to 12, had been visiting Nelson in the room used only on weekends, an area that normally serves as a lunch room for the staff.

Officials said Wilson's action appeared to be spurred by the length of his stay in prison and the infrequency of visits by the family.

Wilson is serving a sentence of from three years to life for two counts of forcible rape, and has been at San Quentin for six years. He was sentenced in San Diego County.

Work On Contract Demands Will Start

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Leaders of the Communications Workers of America planned to meet today to start drawing up contract demands covering 400,000 workers at the Bell Telephone companies.

The current contracts do not expire until January. CWA president Joseph A. Beirne said "many indicators in the economy, labor-management relations and corporate thinking add up to a clear threat of turmoil for us as we meet Bell at the bargaining table in 1971."

Pill Overdose

"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

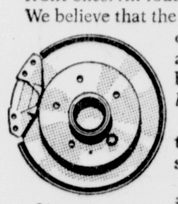

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Just over a rise you find a trailer truck sprawled in your path. There is only one thing between you and a 20-ton roadblock.

Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

There's more to a Mercedes-Benz than just stopping. After all, the joy is in the driving.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Slam a door. It sounds like a vault's.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

Today is Monday, March 16, the 75th day of 1970 with 290 to follow.

The moon is between its first and full phases. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1945 Japanese resistance on Iwo Jima ended after one of the fiercest battles of World War II.

In 1966, American astronauts Neal Armstrong and David Scott docked their Gemini 8 space vehicle with an Agena craft.

In 1969 a Venezuelan airliner crashed into a suburb of Maracaibo, killing 150 persons and injuring 100 others.

A thought for the day: British writer Izaak Walton said, "Look to your health; and if you have it, praise God, and value it next to a good conscience."

Novato May Add To Course List

There's No Reason For South To Lose So Many Trump Tricks

"I have written a small monograph on the sort of bridge player who loses too many trump tricks," Sherlock Holmes remarked bitterly as he hustled Dr. Watson out of the Baker Street Bridge Club. "They are usually found unconscious, with the marks of their partners still on them. No jury has ever convicted such a partner." The great detective had a right to be bitter; he had just kibitzed the hand shown today.

KING LEAD

West led the king of hearts, and declarer took the ace. South then led a low spade, using dummy's jack to drive out the ace. This deplorable play brought forth a snort from Holmes and swift punishment from East.

East cashed the king of hearts and continued with the nine, thus promoting a trump trick for West. If South ruffed low, West would overruff at once; and if South ruffed high, West's ten would eventually become the master trump.

South eventually gave up a club trick, losing game, rubber and two distinguished kibitzers.

COULD KEEP KIBITZERS

South could have kept his kibitzers by playing the trumps more carefully. After winning the first trick with the ace of hearts, declarer should enter dummy with a diamond to lead a low trump toward his hand.

East would play low, and South would win with the king of spades. South would lead another diamond to dummy to return the other low spade. East would put up the ace this time, and South would play low, not wasting an honor on the job of knocking out East's ace of trumps.

ANOTHER HEART

When East then cashes a heart and leads a third heart, South can afford to ruff with the queen of spades to shut West out. Dummy's jack of spades remains to draw West's last trump, and the rest is easy.

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds or two notrump.

No response is really satisfactory. Two diamonds promises a suit of four or more cards; two notrump promises a stopper in each of the unbid suits; a jump to three spades promises four or more trumps. My own preference is for two diamonds, but I would not quarrel with two notrump.

Richardson Bay Plan Offers 'Last, Best Hope'

Nearly 23 years ago, in June, 1947, a plan for development of Richardson Bay was prepared by Mary Robinson Gilkey, Marin County planning technician, as prelude to hoped-for Army Corps of Engineers dredging of the bay's channel.

It called for extensive fill on the Sausalito side of the bay, with two large residential subdivisions on filled land. One of these was labeled a "Venice" subdivision with small canals from the bay connecting the homesites to the channel.

A harbor for large yachts was proposed below Strawberry Heights, in addition to George Zaro's harbor already proposed at that time farther northwest. Parks and playgrounds were envisioned also on land then under water.

The plan called for development to the limits of the underwater streets on the Sausalito side. Except for the two yacht harbors, there would have been only the channel remaining in open water above Strawberry Point. But the channel would have been enlarged through the Mill Valley marshlands to reach a small craft harbor—which was sought even then by the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce.

MANY THINGS have happened to Richardson Bay since 1947—none of them according to the plan that was then produced by the county planning department.

Although relatively little of the underwater portion that is mapped for streets and blocks has been filled, fingers of fill have been extended into the bay. Barge and houseboat colonies have grown where the two residential subdivisions were envisioned. And more and more mud has been washed into the bay, until now much of the underwater area is under water only at high tide.

LAST FALL, the county planning department, now under Paul C. Zucker, at last came up with a new plan for Richardson Bay. It would permit filling privately owned lands in what were once shown as the residential subdivisions to a maximum of 40 per cent of each owner's area. It would restore an open bay in part of what was shown on the 1947 map as merely a channel. It would provide for a green area, and for waterfront bicycle and pedestrian paths.

With the exception of George Kappas—who objected to the fill restrictions—property owners on Richardson Bay went along with the new plan. It appears to solve at last a long dispute over what should be done to save the bay from its steady decline into a mud flat and to allow owners to develop their property without destroying the bay.

However, when the plan went before the Bay Conservation and Development Commission on March 5, there were 561 postcards, letters and telegrams opposing it. And speaking against it on behalf of the Marin Conservation League was Mary Summers, who in 1947 was Mary Robinson Gilkey, the county planner. Disavowing her earlier plan, she urged the whole bay be put in some sort of redevelopment project.

WE AGREE with chairman John F. McInnis of the county board of supervisors, who said: "If the plan is defeated this time, I contend that that end of the bay will be permanently and forever lost."

In the 23 years since that first plan, it has become quite evident that Richardson Bay can destroy itself with little help from man. Much of what was then open water is now mudflat. Unless rational development is permitted, that is what it soon will all become—except for the channel to be dredged by the Corps of Engineers.

We hope that BCDC, at its second hearing Thursday, will approve the plan to save Richardson Bay.

Who's On Consumer's Side In Feud Over Dry Cleaning?

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The sincerity of Gov. Ronald Reagan's pronouncements opposing smog and favoring mass transit is in doubt in light of his recent remarks on the purpose of transit.

Reagan, speaking before top executives of the automobile and oil industry in a Sacramento conference on the problems of lead in gasoline, said that mass transit was "for the sake of those who for one reason or another cannot provide their own transportation."

APPARENTLY SPEAKING of some urban area unlike any we have seen, Reagan said, "It is time that we pause and remember that the automobile, the internal combustion engine, has given man the freedom of choice to travel where he will, when he will, at his own time of schedule, and on his own route.

"Now there are those who are taking a look at the by-product of this great advance in mobility of freedom — smog — and have decided that this is excuse enough to cancel out this freedom and to put man back dependent on someone else's schedule and deny him this great freedom of choice that was achieved, with the development of the kind of transportation in this country to an extent greater than anyone else has in any other part of the world.

"Now at the same time that we demand solution when it comes to the vehicle emissions problem, we have to recognize that hundreds of thousands of our fellow citizens earn their living working in the great industries that are represented here. And that virtually our entire labor force is dependent on motor vehicles of one type or another to get to and from work.

"And to know that most of cities, and towns and rural areas are dependent almost solely on motor vehicle transportation for food and clothing, and the myriad of supplies and sundries that make up the necessities and niceties of life.

"NOW, IN CALIFORNIA, we are not about to become entangled in a precipitous, myopic action or actions which are not really solutions. There is a great talk today about the mass transit, and I am not going to quarrel with the idea that mass transit, of course, should be developed for the sake of those who for one reason or another cannot provide their own transportation.

"This should be the primary goal of mass transit — to provide transit for those who otherwise would be immobilized and could not move or travel,".

HIS IMAGE of transit being reserved for the poor hardly fit the picture in the Bay Area, much less than in Marin.

According to a recent report by the staff of the Assembly Democratic Caucus — issued before the governor's remarks his budget "is imbalanced on a 3,000 to 1 ratio in favor of state funds for moving people on congested highways and in cars that are the cause of our urban air pollution.

"In spite of glib administration rhetoric calling for new approaches to ease our environmental crisis, the Reagan budget proposes spending $793 million for more highway construction. In dramatic contrast, he allocates only $236,921 for rapid transit," the caucus said.

Reagan does not appear to be a friend of mass transit.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Tree Ordinance Called Dangerous

The ridiculous tree demolition ordinance given initial approval by the Tiburon City Council at its March 10 meeting should arouse the indignation, wrath and suspicion of every Marin County resident.

The ordinance itself is so loosely drawn, it would be impossible of inforcement. More than that, it will create unnecessary and costly governmental interference into an area obviously reserved for private arbitration and settlement.

And the proposed law, if passed by the Tiburon Council, may well proliferate into other areas of Marin, to be used as a vehicle for "reasonable clearance" of properties by developers and promoters who might otherwise be deterred from this type of objectionable action.

Mr. Bremer's comment to the contrary that "the ordinance will be enacted in a reasonable manner, and probably be invoked only in unusual circumstances", there are no guarantees that the good intentions of Mr. Bremer and his collegues will outlive their tenure on the council, not to mention that once established in a body of law, other less enlightened Marin governments could easily incorporate similar ordinances for less lofty purposes.

In these days, when the cry for environmental preservation is so strong throughout the land, it is time that we soberly consider the total ramifications of our previous actions in this area. It is no time to initiate costly, unworkable, damaging, highly suspicious, and probably unconstitutional legislation of this type.

Teachers 'Psyched' By Lottery Deal

The Dixie and the Novato School Boards have the teachers pretty well psyched out. Put the first year teachers in a fishbowl and play bingo with their professional lives and what are the teachers going to do? Nothing but sit there and participate in the game.

Teachers sit still and take it. Just wait until it is time for salary negotiations. Don't ask for sympathy when you get a meager raise. The public who receive the year in year out benefit of your work and dedication will not give it.

Only you can carry the ball. If you don't show up to play, how can you expect to win.

College Appraisal Slash At Education

As usual the I-J has taken another slash at public education. As a former school trustee who has lived in the county 15 years I can scarcely remember a time when the I-J has ever presented a positive picture of education.

What is so pathetic is that, as usual Mr. Cramer (Jack Craemer) has no knowledge of the subject involved.

Dr. (Ambrose) Nichols has resigned as president of Sonoma State College for the very reason that when he did keep things under control at the college he was given no support from the community despite his actions. Dr. Nicholas and his entire staff have done a remarkable job in keeping things "cool" on that campus.

Isn't it also ironic that Mr. Cramer wants more people in the classrooms when all over the land everyone is screaming for less people in the classes so that more individual attention can be given each students?

Yes, Mr. Cramer, Sonoma State could take more students if it had the faculty to teach them. But good teachers are now hard to find for California schools thanks to Mr. Reagan. Would Mr. Cramer want inferior teachers just so more students could attend? Guess who would be the first to scream about inferoir education?

Two things will lead to superior education at Sonoma State. First, when Mr. Reagan ceases to make education his personal whipping boy and road to political advancement. Second, when the public is convinced that education is more important than military waste.

Educators know their weaknesses and are honestly trying to correct them, but you Mr. Cramer give simplistic answers to very intricate problems; the mark of a real know nothing. The class at eight o'clock will solve all.

Stop smoking Mr. Cramer and pollution will evaporate overnight. Its so simple.

Child Health Aid Charge Held Wrong

Was very upset to learn the health department is charging fees for the child health conferences. There is something wrong with our values when one of the richest counties in American must charge for this essential service while we are at least 13th in infant mortality compared to other nations. Inflation makes it difficult for families not eligible for Medical to budget for preventive health care. A government that is not responsive to the needs of people encouraged violent revolution.

THE DRUMMONDS

U.S. Fails To Make Good Use Of Diplomatic Recognition Tool

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—The United States has a tool to achieve important national purposes which it isn't using well—but could.

We badly need a reasonably consistent policy to decide which foreign countries to recognize.

Divided and diverse public opinion will of course affect the President's decisions. For example, President Eisenhower privately favored recognizing Red China, but he thought it would stir too great a domestic controversy.

ALTHOUGH MOST Americans appear to agree that diplomatic recognition does not of itself imply approval, they often refuse to accept this principle when it crosses their own convictions.

Many conservatives are horrified at the prospect of recognizing Red China because they disapprove of its government and don't like the way it came to power and the way it uses power.

Many liberals, who favor recognizing Red China despite the fact they disapprove its government, passionately favor our de-recognizing other foreign governments because they disapprove of them—such as Greece, Haiti, Brazil, Portugal and South Africa.

And few people seem disturbed now that President Nixon cut the last thin thread of relationship with Rhodesia when the all-white government of Ian Smith broke with Great Britain in order to keep it all-white.

HASN'T THE TIME come for the United States to have a mature and realistic attitude toward diplomatic relations with all kinds of foreign governments? Why not the following as guiding principles?

1—Realize that diplomatic recognition is a means to achieve national purposes. We can rarely achieve any national purpose by ignoring a country or its people.

2—Recognition is simply a means of exchanging diplomatic representatives so that each country can get firsthand knowledge of the other nation and its people. Our presence in a country may not greatly affect its government's actions, but we are throwing away an opportunity to influence policy and know a people by neglecting person-to-person contact.

3—Except in a rare instance when it clearly serves a national interest, forget about diplomatic recognition as the equivalent of moral approval of the government concerned. President Nixon and the Senate are in agreement on that proposition. With only three dissenting votes, the Senate took this view in a resolution adopted last September.

These guidelines apply to recognizing new governments even though we dislike them or to de-recognizing old governments when we dislike them.

SOME POLITICAL liberals are eager to see the United States break relations with Brazil because it doesn't have what they deem a liberal government. It didn't have a liberal government during World War II. But former Sec. of State Dean Acheson has usefully pointed out that we maintained close relations with the Vargas dictatorship and as a result Brazil spurned the Axis powers, declared war on them, participated in the antisubmarine patrol of the South Atlantic and was the only Latin-American state to send troops to fight in Europe.

Not a bad dividend for maintaining diplomatic relations with somebody we didn't like.

President Nixon was wise to close the U.S. consulate in Rhodesia, and it is a valid exception to the general rule. It is valid because this action serves the national interest. It is valid because it is one small action which will best demonstrate to all of black Africa America's understanding and support for them and our deep distate for a Rhodesian regime which keeps denying to 96 per cent of its people any meaningful part in their nation's government.

This exception proves this rule.

Douglas Again Under Fire For Off-Court Activities

By ROBERT S. ALLEN AND JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas is again under congressional scrutiny regarding his extra-judicial activities.

The new inquiry involves the jurist's relations with the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. Located in Santa Barbara, Calif., the organization is headed by Dr. Robert Hutchins, one-time president of Chicago University.

Recently, the center announced that as part of an extensive reorganization Douglas had been named chairman of its executive committee. This was done, it was stated, to enable him to take a more active role in the policies and work of the center. For some years, he had been listed as a director. Now, apparently, he is to be more important in its affairs.

REP. LOUIS C. Wyman, R-N.H., long disapproving of Douglas, wants to know what this latest extra-judicial activity is all about and why. He has written Hutchins asking a number of explicit questions.

As a director, Douglas reportedly received $12,000 a year. This was in addition to his life-time salary as a member of the Supreme Court — increased last year to $60,000.

In a speech in the House several weeks ago, Wyman scathingly denounced the 71-year-old jurist for publishing a book advocating rebellion, declaring he has "impeached himself by his own hand and should resign or be removed."

REP. BURT Talcott, R-Calif., flatly charged Douglas' book promotes rebellion and encourages violence.

"I particularly deplore a justice promoting rebellion from the sanctuary of the highest court of the land," said Talcott. "A man of integrity and competence would resign from the court before becoming an advocate of a position which is certain to become an issue before his court."

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford, Mich., says his investigation for possible impeachment proceedings against Douglas is still continuing.

No Substantial Change In Schedule G In Two Years

Schedule G form, 1040, income averaging. There has been no substantial change in this form since 1968.

If your income in 1969 was substantially greater than 1968, 1967, 1966 and 1965, you should try income averaging and see how this comes out for you.

Under income averaging, that part of your 1969 income which is more than one-third of the total income of your four prior years is taxed by averaging the excess over a five year period.

The only way to be sure is to get the copies of your old tax returns and slavishly follow this form line by line.

I know the form is very confusing, however, if each line is carefully followed, you will come out to the right result.

LINE 10

If you use this form to compute your tax, you enter the total tax from line 10 on line 6 of Schedule T, Tax computation, and also check the box, Schedule G, on line 18, page 1, Form 1040.

It is also possible to use the income averaging provisions for your averageable income and the computation of alternative tax provisions for your capital gain income, provided you are filing a separate return with taxable income exceeding $26,000, or you are head of household with taxable income exceeding $38,000, or you are filing a joint return with taxable income exceeding $52,000.

This computation is made in part 5 of Schedule G and if it is to your advantage to use this computation, line 14 will give you the smaller tax.

REGULAR FORM

If this situation exists, you will probably have to figure your taxes the regular way on Schedule T and with income averaging on Schedule G, part 4, and under the computation of alternative tax provisions in part 5 of Schedule G, in order to determine which is the best method for you to use.

Having arrived at the lowest tax, that is the one you pay.

Schedule R, Form 1040, Retirement Income Credit. You are eligible if you are over 65 years old or if you are under 65 years old but retired under a public retirement system, such as Firemen, Policemen, Teachers, Federal Employees, member of the armed forces etc.

To qualify for the credit, you or your deceased spouse must have earned an income, not counting pensions or annuities of at least $600 in any ten previous years. Since California is a community property state and one-half of all income earned by one spouse is attributable to the other, most married couples who have lived in California for over 10 years will both meet this test.

LINE FOR LINE

The form should be completed exactly, line for line, as laid out and if you come out with a credit then you are eligible for it and that credit is entered on Schedule T, line 11, where it is subtracted from the amount of tax that you owe.

It should be noted that the credit can never be so much that it will generate a refund for you; in other words, it can't be more than the tax that you owe.

The best source of additional information on retirement income credit or any other tax question that you may have is "Your Federal Income Tax 1970 Edition for Individuals" which you can get from your local office of IRS (cost 60¢). This book is written in clear, readily understandable English and is designed to answer most taxpayer questions. It is probably the best tax investment you can make. Also, the cost is deductible.

Bank Plans To Relocate Its Larkspur Branch

Bank of America has announced plans to relocate its Larkspur branch.

Branch manager J. E. Osborn said the bank has purchased a 35,879-square foot lot at the northeast corner of Magnolia Avenue and Bon Air Road as a location site.

He said the property was acquired from T. W. O'Donoghue Jr. of Novato who owns other property ajoining the bank site and that there is a possibility of a large office building complex to be established here.

O'Donoghue applied for and received approval from the Larkspur Planning Commission in January to combine three lots at Magnolia and Bon Air Road into two lots of 35,869 and 101,321 square feet.

The Larkspur branch of Bank of America has been located at 494 Magnolia Avenue since it opened in 1948.

Market In Skids Late In Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were skidding late this afternoon, with losing issues outdistancing gainers by more than 3 to 1. Trading was slack.

At 2 p.m., an hour before the close of trading, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 7.66 at 764.45, the low for the session.

The market had been retreating almost without interruption since the beginning of the session.

Expectations that the industrial production index and durable goods orders will be reported lower are causing investors to withdraw from the market, according to one analyst.

Steels, motors, rubber issues, farm implements, aircrafts, electronics, utilities, metals, chemicals, oils, and drugs were generally lower. No group was higher.

Oil issues, which were among the most-active stocks, were all down with the exception of Royal Dutch Shell. That was unchanged. A cabinet task force on oil imports has recommended that the quota system on oil imports be changed to a tariff system. Members of the oil industry say the switch would increase oil imports into the United States.

Big Board prices included Ryder System, off 1½ at 38⅝; Sterling Drug, off ⅜ at 39⅜; Teledyne, off 1¼ at 23⅛; and Eastman Kodak, off 1¼ at 76⅝.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

New Allstage Enterprise Finally Arrives On Scene

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have tried, without success, to obtain information regarding Allstate Enterprise Stock Fund. Would you please comment on the current status of the situation?—H.P. & P.L.

A. Good news—Allstate Enterprise Stock Fund, Inc., Sears long-awaited mutual fund, is now being offered to the public without a load or sales fee. This introductory period will extend through April 30, after which time fund shares will be sold by licensed Allstate agents throughout the country. According to the prospectus, the fund will invest primarily for long-term growth with income being secondary.

Allstate's portfolio, which will be committed mainly to common stock, is expected to have an annual turnover rate of about 75 per cent. The minimum initial investment is $200; however, smaller additional investments of $50 can be made. According to my sources, the fund's initial offering price is $10 per share.

A prospectus and fund shares may be procured through Allstate Enterprise Fund Sales, Inc., Allstate Plaza, North Brook, Ill. 60062.

Q. I hold shares of Green Giant 5 per cent preferred. I hesitate to sell at these low prices even though I need funds. I would be grateful for advice.—L.G.

A. Preferred shares reflect not only internal corporate fortunes but also money rate changes. When interest rates soar, preferred shares, which are primarily income holdings, decline in price to a level where their yield is closer to the prevailing rate.

In the case of Green Giant, an earnings slowdown has also depressed trading levels. In the most recent quarter, ended December, earnings recovered sharply to bring 9-month results to $1.16 a share vs. $1.18 in the 1968 period. However, final quarter comparisons may not be as favorable, due to larger promotional expenses. Newer developments such as restaurants and a more diversified frozen foods line have been readily accepted. The natural extension of the Jolly Green Giant image to the area of gardening products should prove successful. Some improvement in trading levels should result on any further easing in money rates or confirmation of an earnings turnaround.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

The Kitchen, Culinary Delight, Will Be Opened During April

A new store to open at 1016 C Street, San Rafael, about the middle of next month will be called The Kitchen.

This a second venture for Theodore Jacobs and Reginald Thayer who have Bath and Closets less than half a block away at Fourth and C Streets. They have taken the space formerly occupied by Academy and Organ Co., are remodeling it and are having the front area landscaped.

The Kitchen will provide for the culinary minded what Bath and Closet now does for those household regions. Stocks will show the modern European influence on kitchenware, and whatever is American-made will be mostly early American styling.

There will be demonstrations at least once a week. Jacobs and Thayer hope to bring in some of our local chefs de cuisine to participate in these events.

TOP HAT MARKET NUMBER TWO, which is the former Purity Store at 639 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, is still undergoing remodeling by Olin Bartlett and his associates, and this is likely to go on for another six to eight weeks.

Meanwhile Top Hat has applied for the offsale general liquor license formerly held by James Quinn. The transaction was handled by Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty and no doubt will be completed by the time the liquor department is ready for it.

JEROME T. SHERMAN has been appointed vice president and general manager of Anita Lynn, Inc., a subsidiary of Cosmetica, Inc., San Rafael. He has also been appointed vice president of sales for Cosmetica. Anita Lynn manufactures a line of cosmetics and beauty aids made with milk protein. Before joining the company Sherman was director of sales of Clairol's cosmetic division and also vice president for Dorothy Gray-Tussy. He and his family are moving to the Bay Area from New York.

Sherman Mrs. Mills

HELEN C. MILLS, acting assistant manager of the Fairfax branch of Crocker-Citizens National Bank since last August, has now been officially named to that office. She succeeds Edward Roberts, who was transferred to Sacramento. She joined the bank in 1954 at Eureka.

SAUSALITO BEAUTY STYLIST Ronald Finch has given up his salon at the Hurricane Gulch Service Center where he has been for the past five years, to open a new place at 325 Turney Street.

He calls it The Stable. Actually he took an old stable which somehow has survived at this location since about 1890 and redecorated it — but not enough to destroy all evidence of its original use.

HOME AND LAND CO. has designated George Hagstrom of Corte Madera manager of its San Rafael office and has added Barry Wearn of Sausalito to its heliport office in Southern Marin.

Hagstrom Wearn

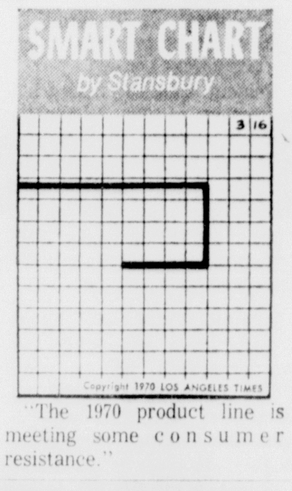

Hagstrom has been in real estate for the past eight years and was formerly with Coldwell, Banker and Co. Wearn has been with I. Magnin since 1966. A native of London, he came to this country from South Africa.

RICHARD IMMEL, manager of Holiday Inn at Terra Linda, will leave tomorrow for Memphis to join 300 other innkeepers in an accommodations industry conference sponsored by Holiday Inns, Inc.

McNears Beach Park Likely To Have Admittance Charge

With the purchase of McNears Beach as a county park, the county will probably start charging admission in one form or another.

Unlike other smaller parks in the county park system, McNears has a pool and two tennis courts, plus buildings that can be used for concessions.

Cost of upkeep, including lifeguards, will be much more than at other country parks that are relatively undeveloped. It's only fair that those who use the facilities help pay for the maintenance. There will be some who will seldom or never use McNears Beach Park. Having contributed to the purchase of the park as taxpayers, such individuals should not have to continue paying for upkeep of a pool, tennis courts and other facilities which they never use. The active users should bear more of the burden.

THE QUESTION before the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, and ultimately the board of supervisors, is whether admission fee will be by car, by person, or whether fees should be charged only for the pool and tennis courts.

The parks commissioners will probably get public reaction to these questions before their next meeting on April 8.

Another question is what to name the new park. McNears Beach is the traditional name. Another suggestion is to name it after the late Caroline Livermore, the well-known conservationist.

THEY'RE TRYING to drum up enthusiasm for a new athletic event called the Golden Gate Marathon, to be run on Memorial Day from Paradise Beach in Tiburon to the Marina Green in San Francisco. Sponsors hope that in a few years it will rival the famed Boston run.

Only trouble is, there's some opposition to the marathon, especially because it is set for Memorial Day. They figure the street and highway congestion will be too much, as runners weave their way though populated centers like Sausalito.

Pierre Joske, county parks and recreation director, has a good idea: change the starting point to say Rodeo Lagoon. And if that isn't far enough away to make it a 26-mile marathon, let the runners circle the hills of Marin headlands a few times before crossing the bridge into the Marina Green in San Francisco.

POLITICAL OBSERVERS are wondering whether Richard J. Oesterman of San Rafael is going to run for the county board of supervisors. He's the only one mentioned so re-election in the first district. far as a possible opponent to John F. McInnis, who seeks Oesterman served on the Marin County Grand jury last year and the preceding year also.

Why Minimum Voting Age? Why Not Require Examination?

We were sitting around a large round table in the Huckins Hotel restaurant in Oklahoma City one afternoon several years ago, talking politics. With us was a Britisher, a naturalized citizen of the United States. He was embarrassing us by again revealing that naturalized citizens generally know more about the mechanics of their adopted country's government than the homegrown variety.

His knowledge of our Constitution and keen insight in our political workings upheld my contention that the right to vote in this country is capriciously designated.

IN PREVIOUS columns I've taken a stand against 18-year-olds having the right to vote—not to put down 18-year-olds, but because I'm opposed to arbitrary lines and limits drawn for individuals. I believe these lines are defined as a matter of convenience, and accuse them of being established for the sake of ease and efficiency, obviating the necessity of having to cope with individual differences.

In the same area is the rule that driver licenses cannot be granted until the age of 16 (or whatever). It's easier and more efficient than having comprehensive examinations that establish a person as being physically and psychologically capable as well as being knowledgeable enough to handle a vehicle competently and safely, regardless of his chronological age.

At the other end of the scale, we find airline pilots approving the law of compulsory retirement at the age of 60, declaring it to be discriminatory. Chronological age should not be the standard by which an individual's ability to function as required is determined. Some pilots should retire at an earlier age; others are competent to fly the giant transports well beyond the 60-year milepost.

On that note, let's go back to the business of voting.

WE OUGHT to take into account the painful fact that the percentage of voters showing up at the voting booths on election day is disconcertingly low. Is it possible that one of the reasons might be the tendency to value lightly anything that is acquired so easily? I'm inclined to think so. To be handed the right to vote simply because one has reached the age 18 or 21 is to put a minimal value on it—despite all the lofty rhetoric to the contrary.

The tests given foreigners desiring to become citizens cannot be passed by the average native-born American. I make this as an unequivocal statement and with no qualification. Nor do I propose to reduce these standards. I do propose, however, that these same standards be applied to all citizens before they are permitted to exercise their franchise. Passing such a test would earn them the right to vote—and that right would naturally assume a higher value, as it should.

UNDOUBTEDLY raising such an idea as this would stir controversy, even resentment. It would be said that the principle was resolved by the founders of our republic. With that there's no argument, but on the other hand, did the founders of this nation agree to universal sufferage?

Thinking we should be more concerned with the quality, not quantity, of the voters, I have long and vigorously opposed universal sufferage.

It is a quicksand into which we'll sink, making us an archaeological curiosity for some future and wiser civilization to ponder. Universal sufferage is the triumph of demagogues, a debilitating catalyst in an otherwise virile republic.

Three Actions For Larkspur

The Larkspur City Council will hold a special meeting at 5 p.m. tomorrow to take three actions.

The council will consider a resolution to apply for disaster funds on behalf of private citizens, a resolution accepting special storm damage repairs made by Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael and a proposed annexation along Corte Madera Creek.

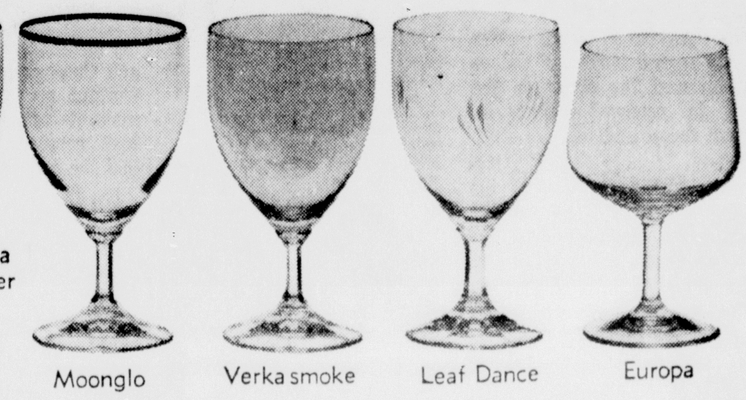

The annexation would advance the city boundary from the north edge of the creek to the center of the channel from Highway 101 to San Quentin Prison. The annexation is to give the city control over structures which might be built in the creek by property owners already inside the city limits, city clerk Judy R. Beal said.

The city has nine applications for disaster relief, which is limtied to payment for removal of storm debris.

Ex-Cyprus Aide Shot To Death

NICOSIA (UPI)—Former Cyprus Interior Minister Polycarpou Georghadjis, who had been linked with the attempt on the life of Archbishop Makarios, was shot to death by ambushers outside Nicosia Sunday night.

POLYCARPOU GEORGHADJIS
Linked to death plot

The government put extra guards around Makarios' palace and ordered the army on the alert in renewed efforts to protect the president.

Official souces said Georghadjis was lured out of his heavily guarded home by an anonymous telephone caller who promised information on the plot to kill Makarios. Policeman who was with him survived the roadside attack on their car eight miles outside Nicosia.

Unconfirmed reports said Georghadjis was shot six times in the chest by attackers who fired through the windshield of the car. An autopsy was planned.

Georghadjis, 39, was said by friends to have been terrified of assassination since reports circulated naming him as a planner of the attempt to Makarios' life last Sunday. He denied the reports and denounced an Athens newspaper that said he master-minded the plot.

Friday police called back a Beirut-bound airliner as it taxied for takeoff and removed Georghadjis. He was one of a number of persons forbidden to leave the island during the search for Makarios' attackers.

Police searched Georghadjis' home two hours after gunmen firing from a high school roof shot down Makarios' helicopter and wounded his pilot March 8. They seized two guns but Georghadjis said they were gifts from Makarios. He was fined $348 for illegal possession of arms and ammunition.

First Reforms Since 1556 For Seminaries

VATICAN CITY (AP) — In the first major reform of education norms for Roman Catholic priests since 1556, the Vatican decreed today that seminaries put more stress on teaching about sex, Christian unity and atheism.

A 10,000-word Latin document signed by France's Jean Cardinal Garrone, head of the Congregation for Catholic Institutions, insists that seminaries:

—Cultivate a sense of social justice in their students.

—Give students a say in policy-making with their rector.

—Orient seminarians to approach pastoral problems in a down-to-earth way.

The document, written with the help of bishops around the world, asserts a continuing need for "minor" seminaries, where boys enter at age 14. However, it allows bishops great flexibility to mold seminaries for all age groups to fit differing national cultures.

The decree draws heavily on documents of the second Vatican Council.

Throughout much of the Roman Catholic world, seminaries already are using many of the norms handed down today. The decree gives official blessing to the programs of these seminaries.

A "good sex education is required" for seminarians, the decree states, "in order that the choice of celibacy may be truly free." It orders that candidates for the priesthood be taught to esteem "the benefits of the married state."

The document says nothing about dating for minor seminarians, aged 14 to 19, evidently leaving it up to individual bishops to decide. But for major seminarians, 19 and older, it says that "individual relations with members of the opposite sex, especially solitary or prolonged, should be avoided."

Among traditional seminary practices reaffirmed by the document are: periods of silence, daily Mass and prayer, preparation for the vows of poverty and chastity, and the classical curriculum stressing Latin, Greek, history, obedience, literature, philosophy and theology.

The teachings of St. Thomas Aquinas are upheld as the foundation for theological study.

New English Bible Brings Lively Debate

LONDON (AP) — The New English Bible went on sale today amid lively debate on its style and publishers' predictions of sales in the millions.

The new Bible is not a revision of previous versions but a new translation from Greek and Hebrew texts. Its publishers, the university presses of Oxford and Cambridge, claim it is "as truthful as human skill could make it—and carried out by the best scholars and translators that the churches possessed."

The translation was sponsored by all the major Christian churches in Britain except the Roman Catholics. The work took 12 years.

The new version drops most of the thees and thous which proliferate in the authorized version produced in Shakespeare's day. They are retained only in prayers and direct addresses to God.

The aim is simplicity and ready understanding. "The valley of the shadow of death" in the 23rd Psalm has become a "valley dark as death."

Reactions ranged from solid approval to disappointment.

Dr. Cecil Northcott, churches correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, said: "It will rank among the great Biblical achievements. Never was the English-speaking world better provided for in contemporary translations of the Bible than today, and the New English Bible is the crowning venture."

John Redfern, churches correspondent of the Daily Express, predicted "Many arguments about the translation, but I believe that it fulfills its task—which was to communicate—at all points."

However, Jesuit scholar Peter Levi commented in the Sunday Observer: "The new Bible is written in a deadly and churchy mandarin, heavy without being smooth and jagged without being strong."

Fairfax House Gutted By Fire

A fire swept through a rented house at 200 Scenic Road, Fairfax, Friday night while its residents were out, gutting the interior.

Four units of the Fairfax Fire Department responded to the alarm at 11:03 p.m. The occupants, Harriet Weaker, 25, and Billie Parker, 19, returned after the blaze had been extinguished, firemen said. They spent the night with friends.

Owner of the house is unknown, firemen said. Cause of the fire is under investigation.

No estimate of damage was available, though a fireman said he thought the house was a total loss.

Antismog Laws Helping London

LONDON (London Express News Service)—London is a sunnier, healthier place to live in than it was only a few years ago. This is the conclusion of a report on air pollution in Greater London produced by the London Boroughs Association.

Since the Clean Air Act came into force in 1956 there has been huge decline in the volume of smoke produced at ground level, winter pea-soup fogs have almost disappeared, and the level of sulphur dioxide has declined.

Fresh air in London has resulted in fewer people dying and being taken to hospital from illnesses associated with pollution.

Visibility has improved, and the banishment of London's "smoke blanket" has allowed more sunshine to penetrate to ground level.

Now 138 species of wild birds can now be seen in London, double the number registered 10 years ago.

Indiana's soybean 1969 production is up an estimated 4 per cent over last year.

12 Radicals Reported In Townhouse Blast

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine says about 12 young radicals who planned to bomb buildings at Columbia University and elsewhere were in the Greenwich Village townhouse that recently exploded and burned to the ground.

So far, three bodies have been pulled from the wreckage.

The magazine said Sunday that explosives found in the debris were to be used in conjunction with a demonstration on the campus last Friday to pressure the university to raise bail for 12 of 13 Black Panthers indicted on bomb and murder conspiracy charges.

About 200 students were involved in smashing windows in four campus buildings Friday, following a 2-hour sit-in.

Newsweek said youths in the townhouse at the time of the dynamite explosion—March 6—had been drifting into New York for weeks from Boston, Chicago and other cities.

It said they were scattered around the $250,000 residence listening to rock music and smoking marijuana.

One of the victims has been identified as Theodore Gold, a leader of the 1968 student revolt at Columbia and an organizer of the university's Students for a Democratic Society.

The others, a man and a woman, have not been identified.

Cathlyn Wilkerson and Kathy Boudin, both active in militant movements, were seen fleeing the scene, as were three young men, Newsweek quoted underground sources as saying.

The townhouse was owned by Miss Wilkerson's father, owner of a chain of midwest radio stations, who was vacationing in the Caribbean at the time of the explosions.

Newsweek said that dynamite and blasting caps retrieved intact from the rubble had been purchased two weeks before the explosion in Keene, N.H.

Quints' Parents Hire An Agent To Handle Task

NEW YORK (UPI)—The parents of the 2½-week-old Kienast quintuplets said Friday they have hired a business manager to handle a mounting tide of commercial offers and requests for guest appearances.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kienast of Liberty Corners, N.J., whose three girls and two boys are still receiving special care at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, said Complan Inc. will act as their business adviser.

Fergus Daley , of Complan said the firm is working on "deals with the major pictorial magazines" for exclusive coverage of the quints, and arrangements for a possible "television special or an exclusive on film rights." He said no firm commitments have been made.

"The Kienasts have been asked to appear on all the big television talk shows, but they've turned them down until the babies are home and okay," Daley said.

A hospital spokesman said the quintuplets are "just thriving."

Whooping crane population is now 55, the highest for the almost extinct birds since 1941 when there were only 15 in the U.S. and Canada.

Working Women Of Vietnam

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Alma De Luce and her husband Daniel, an assistant general manager of The Associated Press, have just returned from an 18-day visit in North Vietnam. Here is her report on the women of the North.

By ALMA De LUCE

A little girl in North Vietnam knows exactly what will be stylish when she's 16 and 60. It will be the same as when she's 6:

A long-sleeved cotton blouse of any color, usually white, worn over black cotton trousers, a conical straw hat and sandals.

She'll let her shiny, black hair grow very long, hanging straight down her back from a metal clasp at the neck.

IF YOU know the musical "South Pacific" you already know her-Lait, the little Tonkinese beauty on the island of Bali Hai.

There's a Liat behind almost every store counter in Hanoi. And many like her in the green countryside, carrying vegetables down the road in baskets slung from a bamboo pole.

Small, soft-voiced, gentle and shy. These are characteristics of Vietnamese girls, even those serving in the Army, militia and self-defense corps. Weighing in at 90 pounds, they can carry burdens that would bring a stevedore to his knees.

Girls begin early to carry their share of family responsibilities, usually a younger brother or sister. Farmers hope their first child will be a girl. Then she can raise the younger children while mother works in the field.

The loudest voice I heard in a thousand miles of travel belonged to a 4-year-old, whose 7-year-old sister unexpectedly deserted him at his own hedge and ran off to borrow a book from a neighbor. His outraged shouts could be heard through two clumps of bamboo.

A CURRENT popular song tells of a farmer's wife who urges her husband to take up arms and fight the enemy. In rough translation, the words are: "Do not worry about me and the children. I will grow the rice and do your work as well as my own. When the enemy has been driven away, I will welcome you home again. You will see how well the fields have been kept."

To be a farmer's wife is not easy. She rises before dawn to prepare the first of three family meals: meat, fish, vegetables and rice. When times are bad, there will be only rice, perhaps with vegetables from the garden.

At midday, a daughter will carry food to her parents working in the flooded paddies. The last meal of the day is after dark, served in bowls on a long wooden table. The only source of light is the yellow glow of a tiny kerosene lantern.

Farmers' daughters, who never used a sewing machine, have found themselves learning to fire rifles, load machine guns and aim antiaircraft artillery.

A NEW GENERATION has also learned to operate and repair Jeeps, diesel trucks, steam rollers and bulldozers.

The most impressive personality I met was Truong Thi Vem, woman chairman of the fishing cooperative of Nhan Trach village. Her husband leads a fishing team. They are expecting their first child.

She related with pride that during four years of bombings, the tonnage of fish caught increased annually in her village.

She said, "If we were bombed by day, we would fish at night. . . bombed at night, we would fish by day. . . bombed night and day, we would fish regardless."

The fishermen lived in shelters in the dunes. To save their boats, when not in use in the Gulf of Tonkin, they learned to fill them with sand ballast until they sank. It meant the extra work of refloating, but it spared them from bombing.

NGO DIEN, Foreign Ministry press chief, told me: "Women are very important to our nation. They have earned respect because they do whatever is needed."

"Even when not being attacked by enemies, our people have always lived on the edge of disaster. Some of our dikes are a thousand years old. Still we have floods. Then women are asked to work as hard as men. Our people learned long ago that every family in the village must help to save the dikes or be wiped out. So during crises, we work together easily."

SMALL, GENTLE and shy are the characteristics of Vietnamese women even though they serve in the military and do much of the heavy work. Women workers in Hanoi push a loaded cart of vegetables past the National Band, en route to the market place. (AP Wirephoto)

More Are Needed To Train As Operating Room Technicians

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Training as a surgicial technician, a little known nursing-related field offering salaries and benefits above most nursing positions, is open to qualified high school graduates.

The training, actually open to men and women between 18 and 40, can prepare them for positions as operating room technicians, now in great demand.

At her home in Sausalito Judith Abramson, director of the College of California Medical Affiliates in San Francisco, which is beginning its fourth six-month class tomorrow, and Doris Hadley (Mrs. Kirby L. Hadley) of Mill Valley, who teaches the course, explained the program.

"The College is the only private institution in California offering this training at this time," Miss Abramson says. "Training is also being given at a college in Sacramento and in Los Angeles."

"Historically it started in the East and Middle West about eight years ago. In California the shortage of technicians has been so great that hospitals have had to employ either medical corpsmen discharged from the armed services or hire unqualified personnel and give them on-the-job training.

"Everywhere hospitals are struggling with the problems created by shortage of personnel in operating rooms, and it is not a temporary situation. With the proliferation of new types of surgery there will not be enough nurses trained."

"Registered nurses used to have at least three months' experience in the operating room as part of the training," Miss Abramson says, "but now student nurses get nothing but observational experience."

"Operating room technicians work under the supervision of

MRS. KIRBY L. HADLEY

RNs, who can then become supervisors and circulating nurses in the surgical suite with their skills used to better advantage."

There are many advantages to providing more technicians, Miss Abramson explains.

"Surgical technicians, as they are also known, are very much to the advantage of administrators worried about rising costs and salaries of RNs."

"The demand for these surgical technicians, therefore, is very great. Every one of the graduates of our first three classes—about half men and half women—is employed as a technician."

"For the technician there are other advantages."

"According to the San Francisco Hospital and Institutional Workers' Union No. 250, surgical technicians have the highest rate of pay on the nursing staff—just below the RN. Also they work more regular shifts than nurses, usually 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday, though most hospitals require the technician to take on-call duty on a rotating basis to cover emergencies, nights, and weekends, for which they receive additional pay."

"Since it is a growing field, there will be excellent opportunities for advancement in connection with the new specialized types of surgery being developed."

Miss Abramson went on to describe what a technician does and the personal qualifications necessary for success.

"The operating room technician assists the surgeon at the operating table during surgery by passing instruments and performing many duties as part of the surgical team under the supervision of an RN."

"An alert mind and emotional and physical strength to withstand above average tension are necessary. The technician must be in good health and have a capacity to put in long hours of concentrated effort and must be able to use hands quickly and efficiently."

"Students attend the six-months class seven hours per day Monday through Friday. Classes are held in the college classrooms and at Fort Miley Veterans Administration Hospital and other San Francisco hospitals, where students actually assist in surgery as part of their training."

"The school is also negotiating arrangements with Hamilton Air Force Base hospital for students to get some of their practical experience there."

"The College is approved for federal education loans in the amount of $1,000, and graduates receive a diploma," Miss Abramson stressed.

Doris Hadley, the attractive young brunette who teaches the course, had further comments on the program.

"The Board of Governors of the American College of Surgeons became concerned about this shortage of surgical nurses several years ago," she says, "and set up a committee which made available to surgeons and hospitals an outline of the course of training for operating room attendants."

"At this point the Association of Operating Room Nurses made refinements on the outline, and from their practical experience produced a manual used in the training of technicians."

"I organized and taught for three years the first course for surgical technicians given as a pilot program in Daytona Beach, Fla."

Doris, who holds a B.S. in Nursing from Duke University and an M.S. in nursing from the University of Florida, taught the course at that university.

Just before the interview she had returned from the national convention of the Association

Pregnant Warned On Too Much Aspirin

London Express Service

A warning that pregnant women should not take large doses of aspirin was given to doctors Friday in the British Medical Journal.

The reason: aspirin are under suspicion of causing certain abnormalities in babies.

The journal says that in view of the suspicion, "it would seem prudent to advise against heavy doses of salicylates (aspirin) during pregnancy but not to ban their use completely."

A major survey into the problem, organized by the Royal College of General Practitioners, is now nearing completion.

"Its results will be keenly awaited by all who are interested in the problem of congenital malformations," says the journal in a leading article.

But is adds, "even if aspirin is shown eventually to be a human teratogen (an agent causing congenital malformations) it seems unlikely that it will prove to be a very potent one."

The suspicion was supported by recent research when over 800 women who had given birth to abnormal children were compared with similar number of women who had given birth to normal babies.

Of those who had abnormal babies, 22 per cent of the mothers had taken aspirin in the first three months of pregnancy.

But only 14 per cent of mothers with normal babies had taken aspirin during this time.

But, the journal adds "the need for caution in the interpretation of retrospective inquiries is now generally appreciated!"

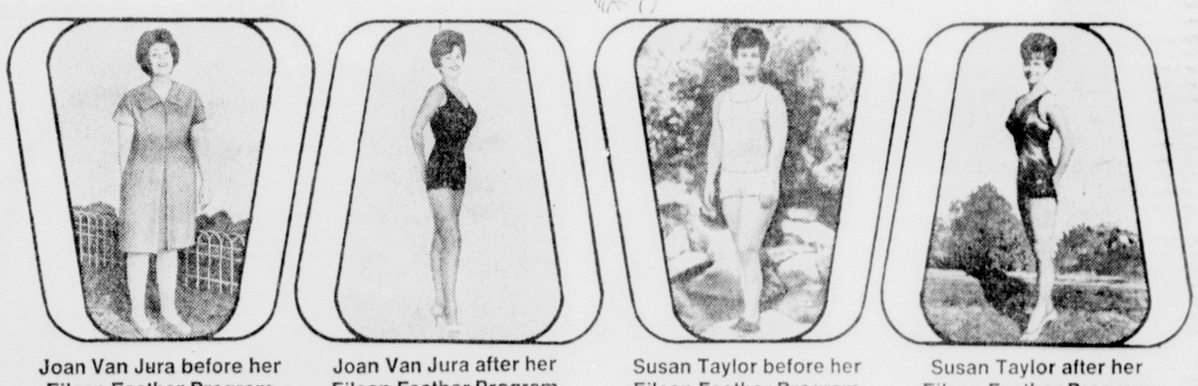

"It seems fair to say that the question whether salicylates in therapeutic doses cause human malformations has not yet been answered."

Do People Try To Get Even By Having Their Letter Printed?

DEAR HELEN:

Often I read in advice coulmns letters that, if seen by the people they refer to, would cause misery or mayhem: Complaints about husbands, wives, children, in-laws, friends. I remember seeing (not in your column, Helen, a letter which poked sarcastic fun at an unusual gift. Can you imagine what the giver felt upon receiving it? There went one friendship out the window, I'll bet.

Isn't it true that many people try to make print, as a get even measure? If a hating mother-in-law, for example, can expose her rotten daughter-in-law via national billboard, wouldn't she jump at the chance?—TROUBLED READER

DEAR T.R.:

She would—and she has tried, hundreds of times. But this type of writer doesn't get much satisfaction from HHU. If sheer vindictiveness prompts a letter, it often ends, "Please print this exactly as I wrote it," or in some other way indicates spite as the motive. When people are facing real trouble and want help, they usually ask, "Please change this letter so it won't be recognized—but I'll know who you mean."

To be on the safe side, I always change names, dates, statistics—and scramble events a bit—when I publish a letter which might create trouble at home. The problem remains basically the same, but the principal may keep his or her anonymity—or be forced to, even if such wasn't the intention.

Occasionally my protectiveness lands me in trouble. It hits someone else—in a distant place—right on the button, or at least a guilty conscience makes it seem so.

A California man once threatened to "wipe up the newspaper office with me" if I didn't publicly apologize for exposing him as a "piano teacher who pumped his students about their families, then spread rumors." He was mollified (but not really convinced) by a verifaxed copy of the original Ohio letter about a woman violin teacher. (And don't think you'll trace her down, my super sleuths, for maybe she-he is a New Jerseyite who teaches fencing.)

Then there was the time I received 14 wrathy rebuttals to "The Kids on the Block" whose "mean old neighbor burns our baseballs and footballs in his incinerator and turns us in to the cops." Each started, in effect, "Don't you dare side with those nasty brats next door. . .Here's the real story. . ."

Right on. A columnist's life is very fraught!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I can't agree with "Nuf Said's" note about the non-existence of office parties without mates.

The latest one I heard of ended more tragically than most. It concerned a certain Massachusetts senator.—NUF SAID II

DEAR HELEN:

Is there any truth in the statement that used U.S. postage stamps (not commemorative, just ordinary) should be saved for charity purposes? I've heard that if clubs save them and turn them in to post offices, they may be traded in for wheel chairs, etc. to help the needy. I have a big bag of them.—COLLECTOR

DEAR COLLECTOR:

Postage stamps are saved by various organizations, then sold to collectors at so much per pound, depending on the type of stamp. Don't, however, turn them in to your post office. Find a missionary society, veterans' organization or service club involved in this sort of work.—H.

P.S. Your local used-stamp store may give you a lead.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Smokers' Gums Age 10 Years

Many smokers "have gums whose general condition is ten years older than they should be," according to Harold A. Solomon, recently retired chief of dental services at the Roswell Park Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

A study at the Institute shows that male smokers aged 30 to 59, and female smokers, aged 20 to 39, double their risk of developing periodontal (gum) disease and losing their teeth.

As more and more studies like these link smoking to disease, veteran smokers are looking for ways to help them quit. Many physicians may recommend a nicotine substitute which satisfies the former smoker's craving for nicotine, while sparing him the physiological damage caused by tobacco.

of Operating Room Nurses held at Anaheim, where the need for technicians was discussed and a report made on the work being done on examinations leading to licensure.

"One of the important things happening," she says, "is that the Association is preparing a standardized examination which all operating room technicians will have to take for licensure by 1973. This will give them a higher professional standing."

"The course we are giving at the College of California Medical Affiliates has the approval of the Association of Operating Room Nurses, and we are using its approved course of study."

Costume Explosion

To Philippe Heim, of Paris, the death of old taboos is the reason for the current dress and costume explosion. He says teen-agers, especially, have used fashion as a weapon to break traditions, and "mass media has spread the word and hastened their acceptance." For the first few years of the 70s, he feels youth will continue to dominate fashion.

Beautiful Vegetables And Fruits Usually Aren't Best

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—Two and a half years ago, Betty Furness created a stir at a meeting of food merchants when she questioned whether the consumer was really being served by the trend toward development of more beautiful and tougher skinned fruits and vegetables.

While praising the greater availability of fresh produce almost regardless of the season, she said that quality and taste sometime suffer in the process.

"Does the consumer really want it?" she asked. "Does he want fruit and vegetables that look as though they were ready to be photographed for a woman's magazine—or does he want flavor?

"Not that the two are always incompatible," she added. "But a picture-perfect peach may not—and nearly always does not—have the flavor that used to make old-fashioned peaches and cream a delight.

"My office has received complaints from women who have bought food that looked superb—and turned out to be tasteless. Grapes, peaches, strawberries and tomatoes. Consumers are almost tearful about tomatoes."

SINCE THEN, consumers have become tearful about many other items of fresh produce as the trend she spotted continues unabated. Growers have learned new tricks and found new strains that allow fruits and vegetables to be picked longer and longer before maturity and still look ripe.

The problem varies from place to place and depends on the season for each product. As any home gardener knows, no processing method can beat the taste and nutrition of fresh fruits and vegetables eaten right after they are picked from the vine.

It is a fact that the nutritional peak coincides exactly with the moment of ripeness in fruits and vegetables, with rare exceptions. Thus, items that are harvested before maturity don't have their full nutritional value. And they are often less flavorful.

On the other hand, fruits and vegetables used in commercial canning and freezing plants are likely to be very close to their peak maturity and thus have their maximum nutritive value and full natural flavor. There are some exceptions, such as canned pie apples that must be processed well before maturity in order not to turn into mush.

IT IS TRUE, of course, that canning can destroy vitamins. But so can home cooking. And canned food deteriorates if stored for long periods. But tests have shown that such losses are insignificant under normal circumstances of shelf life and food use.

Dr. Frederick J. Stare, the noted Harvard nutrition expert, once said:

"Canned and frozen foods have essentially the same food value as fresh produce. Actually, they may even be better since they were picked at exactly the right stage of maturity and quickly processed under scientific, controlled conditions so as to retain the full natural flavor and maximum nutritive value."

In the 16 years since Dr. Stare spoke those words, their truth has steadily increased. Fresh fruits and vegetables still deserve a place in the daily diet, but the changes in varieties grown and harvesting practices are working to the advantage of processed products.

Single Drop Of Blood Is Enough

NEW YORK (WMNS)—A single pinprick of blood can now yield as much medical information as an entire syringeful.

At the moment, new microchemical techniques are used only for babies, whose blood supply is limited and precious, and only in certain pediatric centers.

Using the technique, a foot or a hand is warmed, which increases the arterial blood flow. When sophisticated, miniaturized electronic equipment is used to analyze a pinprick of this blood, the results are as valid as for a large quantity of arterial blood.

ON THE AGENDA

Consumer Champion Betty Furness To Speak In A.M. Series Friday

Betty Furness, former Special Presidential Assistant for Consumer Affairs, will speak on "The Consumer Game" in Marin Friday morning.

BETTY FURNESS

As part of the Family Service League-sponsored A.M. Series, Miss Furness will present her views on how the consumer can match wits with the industrial quarterbacks who make the rules of the consumer game. The program is set for 10:30 a.m. at the Tamalpais Theatre in San Anselmo.

Miss Furness, who is now a member of the Advisory Council to the Senate Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs, was appointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson as Special Assistant on Consumer Affairs in 1967 and during her two years in office became known as an outspoken champion of consumer rights.

Miss Furness gave up a brief New York modeling career to make films in Hollywood, then tried the New York stage. She entered the pioneering television industry in 1948 and became well-known across the country for her narrations and commercials, especially as "the lady who closed the refrigerator door." Then she became involved in television news and public affairs.

Before she accepted the appointment by President Johnson, Miss Furness worked as a recruiter for the Vista and Head Start programs. She is now a member of the board of directors of the Consumers Union, vice chairman of the National Committee on Tax Justice and vice chairman of the Citizens Committee for Postal Reform.

A coffee hour in the theater lobby will precede the Friday program. Tickets will be available at the door for the talk.

WEDNESDAY IS "the very important date" for the Mad Hatter's Luncheon to be held at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley by the Marin Easter Seal Auxiliary for guests.

Zany headgear and fancy bonnets are to be worn by the guests, with cash prizes for the best to go to the three winners' favorite charities and causes.

The madly-hatted women will arrive at 11:30 a.m. for the public luncheon. Mrs. Thomas Walker is reservations chairman for the event and Mrs. Ronald Fein is press chairman.

SONOMA COUNTY Catholic Nurse Association will hold a St. Patrick's potluck dinner at 6:30 tonight in the staff room at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital.

Sister Frances Marie, president of the organization, will conduct a business meeting following the dinner.

Reports will be given by Clare Gallagher and Mrs. Alice Rebizzo and a film, "The Toy Maker," will be shown.

"LAW AND Your Family" is the subject of the month in Marin YWCA's Luncheon-Plus series to be held at Sabella's restaurant in Mill Valley on Wednesnay at noon. Lecturers will be Mrs. Ann Diamond and Mrs. Beverly Savitt, attorneys specializing in family law.

Mrs. Diamond will speak on the dissolution of marriage, with emphasis on the much-discussed new divorce law, and the effect of dissolution on the family's children. The rights of juveniles will be the subject of Mrs. Savitt's talk, as well as parent's obligations—not only for children's negligence but also for their contracts.

A graduate of Western Reserve University Law School in Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Diamond has been in private practice in San Rafael since 1955. Mrs. Savitt became a member of the firm upon her graduation in 1967 from Boalt Hall Law School.

Reservations may be made at the YWCA office in San Rafael.

"A VISIT to France" luncheon will be held at the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere and Tiburon on Thursday at 11 a.m. Mrs. Clair Fishell of Tiburon will show slides of her wine tour of France. Mrs. David Kilmer of Belvedere, who recently returned from living in Paris for three years, will relate her experiences and show slides. The public is invited to the potluck luncheon.

Mrs. William McLaughlin of Lyford Drive in Tiburon is reservations chairman.

ROY SCHUBERT, area coordinator for Zero Population Growth, will speak on his organization and its programs at a joint meeting of TaMar Chapter 1130, B'nai B'rith Women, and Marin-Northgate Lodge, B'nai B'rith. The program will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Marin Jewish Community Center, San Rafael.

THE 10TH anniversary of the Novato Newcomers Club will be celebrated on Wednesday at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

The Novato Newcomers Club was organized on March 16, 1960, with 23 women present at the meeting. The current membership is 243. Past presidents of the club and many charter members are expected to attend.

A social hour will be held at 11 a.m., followed by luncheon at noon.

Burton Chadwick of Montgomery High School in Santa Rosa will give a talk on physical fitness, and installation of officers will be held.

Reservations chairmen are Mmes. William Frost, Gene Cook and William Wheeler.

THE HUMANE SOCIETY Auxiliary is celebrating the ninth anniversary of its Thrift Shop, at 360 San Anselmo Avenue in San Anselmo, on Wednesday and will hold open house, serving refreshments all day. Chairman will be Mrs. Pierre Triou, assisted by Mmes. William L. Miles, Phyllis Green, Richard Keating, Marius Righetti, Volmer Anderson, Robert Coman, and Miss Margaret Forest. Proceeds from the Thrift Shop go to the Humane Society of Marin County and are helping to build the new barn complex for the larger animals.

MRS. ROBERT LAWSON of Greenbrae is the new president of the Femineers, wives of civil and structural engineers. They will meet at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday at Omar Khayyam Restaurant, San Francisco, when George Mardikian will speak on "Opportunities in America." Reservation chairman is Mrs. Samuel Seifert of Mill Valley.

ELECTION OF officrs for the next school year will be held at the Novato High School Parent-Faculty Club meeting at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday in the lecture hall of the high school.

Proposed revisions of the club's constitution and by-laws will be presented to the membership, and William Schneeflock and Paul Scheller will discuss the upcoming elections regarding an 85 cent school tax increase.

THE PUBLIC is invited to two films on early childhood education at Redwood High School Auditorium on Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. Marin County Council of Parent Participation Nursery Schools presents these University of California Extension Media Center productions, "What Does It Need to Grow?" and "My Art Is Me".

TWO STRAIGHT

Redwood's Consolation

"All in all it was a very satisfactory season," said Coach Dick Hart today after his Redwood High School Giants captured their second straight consolation title in the basketball Tournament of Champions at Oakland Coliseum Arena Saturday night.

The Giants, the Marin County Athletic League's winningest team in the 11-year history of the legaue, defeated Arroyo of San Lorenzo, 68-65 for the consolation trophy.

BERKELEY WINS

Other Saturday results saw undefeated Berkeley down Wilson of San Francisco, 70-64, for the championship and Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland whip Castlemont, 61-55, for third place. O'Dowd was the team that beat Redwood in the first round Thursday.

Some of Redwood's joy of winning consolation and picking up another trophy for outstanding rooting section was diminished when Giant ace Jerry Piro was not named to the 10-man All-Tournament team selected by sportswriters.

Piro was the fifth highest scorer in the tourney with 55 points and became the highest two-year scorer in the 24-year history of the T of C with 123 points. Only two other players in history rank higher in scoring and both of them accomplished it in three years.

"Our team was stunned when Jerry was not named to the All-Tourney team," said Hart.

Redwood finished the season with 27 victories against 4 losses, best in MCAL history.

31 OF 79

Ironically, Redwood's final game of its finest season saw the Giants turn in their worst shooting performance, connecting on 31 of 79 floor shots for 37 per cent and only 6 of 19 from the foul line.

The long-haired Arroyo Dons, representing the Hayward League, made better use of its fewer shots and gave Redwood a tough struggle as the lead changed hands 10 times and was tied 14 times going into the final two minutes of the third quarter. Then a field goal by steady Roger Smith put Redwood in the lead for good, 54-53.

It marked the finale for most of the Redwood varsity as only three members of the squad—sophomore Steve McGee and juniors Bill Challender and Scott Trobbe—will be back next year. But, as all three measure 6 feet, 6 inches, things are looking up.

"Trobbe came through for us in the final game," said Hart, noting Scott's five baskets in nine tries from the floor.

"We outboarded them," the coach added, "and everybody did well rebounding." Challender and McGee each had seven rebounds.

A $3,000 Ride In Southern Sonoma

'The King' Top Drag Winner

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

A 31-year-old Washingtonian whose sole means of support is gained from driving a funny looking vehicle one-quarter mile at excessive speeds, took a $3,000 ride in Southern Sonoma County yesterday.

Jerry Ruth of Seattle, known as "The King" around the great northwest drag strips, roared from behind on the day's final duel to win the unlimited class AA-fuel eliminator division of the second annual San Francisco National Open Drag Championships at Sears Point International Raceway.

TOP PRIZE

A sun-kissed crowd of an estimated 5,500 persons saw Ruth nip Tom Larkin of North Hollywood by an eyelash for top prize in the National Hot Rod Association event. The winner was clocked over the measured quarter-mile in the elapsed time of 7.01 seconds at a speed of 215.82 mph while Larkin was clocked at 7.11.

Best performance of the two-day speedfest, however, was turned in by John Wiebe of Newton, Kan., who set track record of 6.794 seconds, 222.77 mph in Saturday's qualifying. He was eliminated on the second round yesterday when he was redlighted for jumping the starting light.

FUNNY CARS

The popular Funny Car division was won by personable Mike Snively of Rialto, San Bernardino County, in a 1970 super-charged Dodge Challenger in the time of 7.69 seconds at 194.38 mph. It was a one-car race after "The Hawaiian," driving by Larry Reyes of Los Angeles, blew a supercharger at the starting line and limped the quarter-mile.

The top gas eliminators provided the hairiest action of the day when both finalists, winner Dom Santucci of Coraopolis, Pa., and David Grassi of Tacoma, Wash., skidded sideways through the finish run. Grassi's engine blew approaching the final timing lights and the resultant oil bath sent both cars screaming out of control, although they didn't crash.

'SCARED'

The shaken Grassi, covered from head to toe in black goo, said: "It scared me more than anything else. I couldn't see anything after she blew, but, no, I'm not hurt."

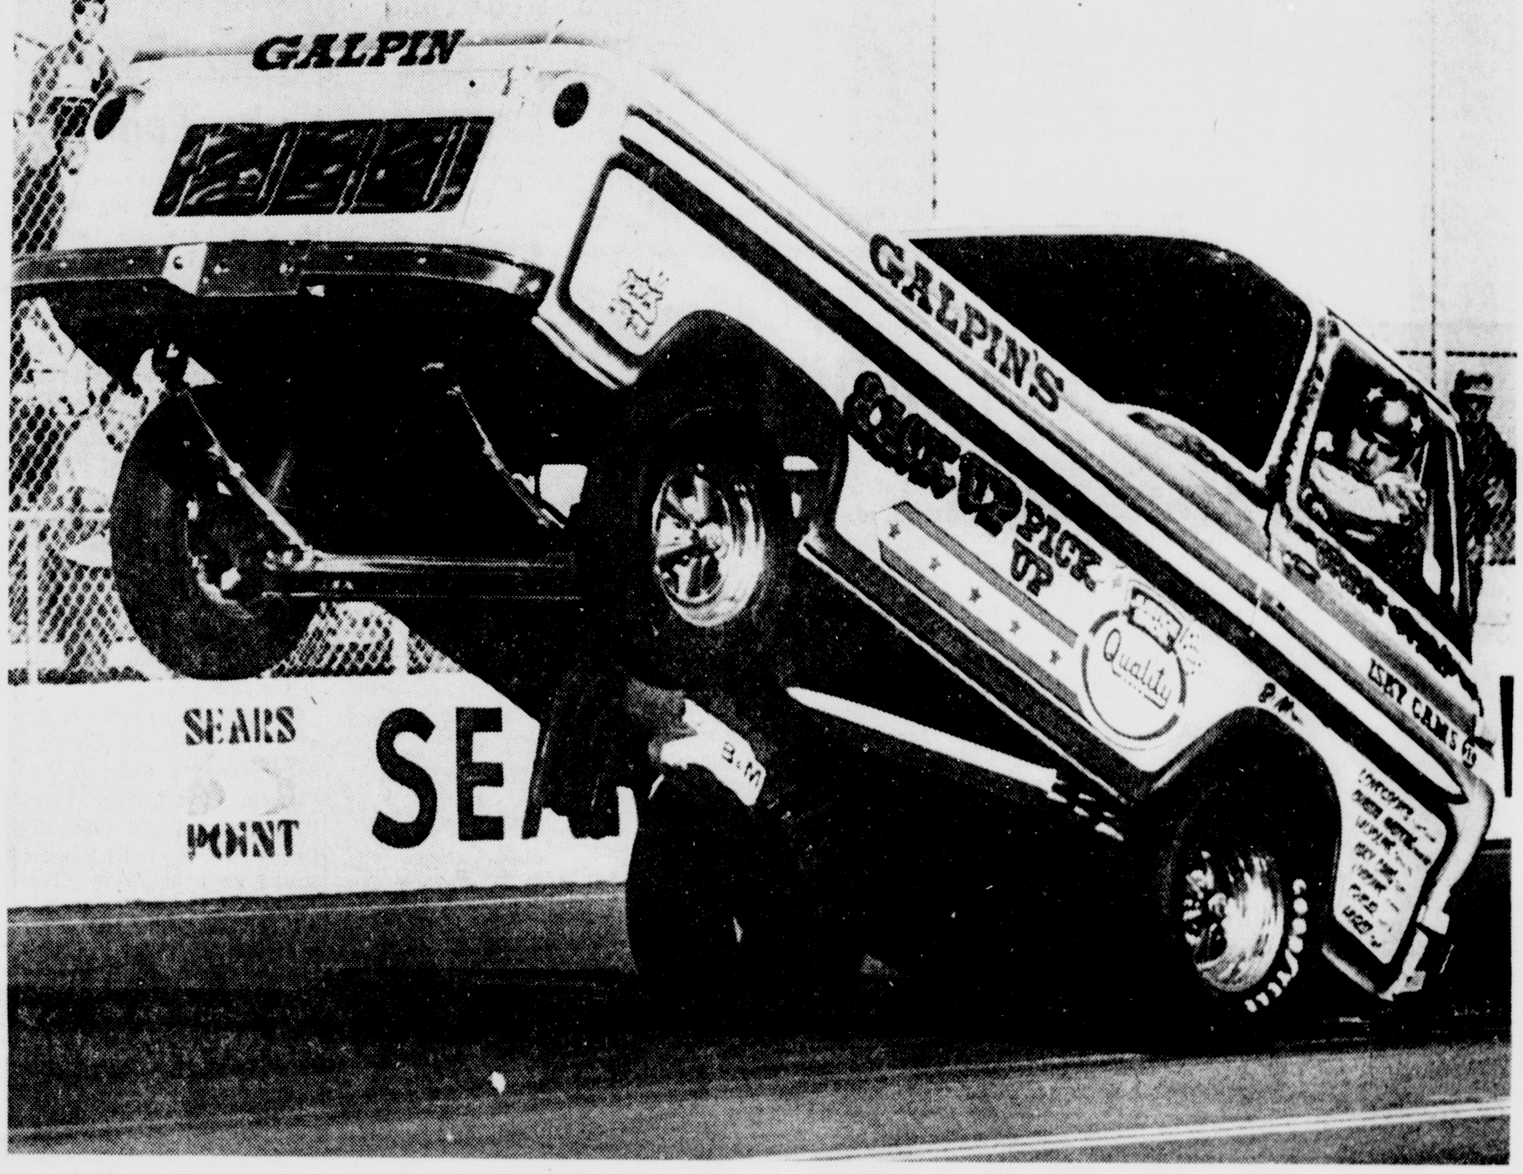

Ruth, who collected approximately $1,000 contingency money on top of his $2,000 share of the $20,000 purse, said it was his biggest payday since 1968. "Naw, I don't do anything else for a living," he said afterward. "Just race. It takes up quite a lot of time, but it has been rather rewarding. Been drag racing since I was 15, in fuel dragsters for the last six years."

While more than 300 entries were expected for the S. F. Open, less than 200 showed up.

This was the first of 11 major events on the versatile Sears Point schedule. Next on the calendar is the Golden Gate 150-mile road race for Indianapolis cars driven by most of the big names of the United States Auto Club, including Mario Andretti, Dan Gurney, A. J. Foyt, Sam Posey, Bobby Unser and others.

Yesterday's finals:

TOP FUEL: Jerry Ruth, Seattle (E.T. 7.01 seconds, 215.82 mph) beat Tom Larkin, North Hollywood. TOP GAS: Domenic Santucci, Coraopolis, Pa. (E.T. 7.81 sec., 188.28) beat Dave Grassi, Tacoma Wash. FUNNY CAR, Mike Snively, Rialto (E.T. 7.69 sec., 194.38) beat Larry Reyes, Los Angeles. SUPER STOCK: Geno Redd Rowland Hts. (88.4 mph) while Bob Jenkins, Modesto, redlighted. PRO STOCK: Dick Lande, Chatsworth, Dodge Challener (E.T. 10.18 sec., 133.52) beat Bob Jerkins, Modesto, Dodge Dart. COMPETITION ELIMINATOR: Bob Drummond, Newark (E.T. 7.97 sec., 179.64) beat Bob Lunsford, Van Nuys. MODIFIED ELIMINATOR: Kay Sissell, El Monte (E.T. 10.12 sec., 120.64) beat Walter Orr, Stockton.

BACK IN FRONT—This novelty dragster had the fans agog yesterday at Sears Point International Raceway. Named the Back Up Pick Up, the body is mounted on the frame in reverse, and it was driven in this position on just two wheels for more than the length of the quarter-mile track.

Milwaukee To See Return Of Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — Milwaukee, which inherited the Braves from Boston in 1953 and lost them to Atlanta four years ago, is about to get another baseball team.

The Associated Press has learned from unimpeachable sources that the financially troubled Seattle Pilots' American League franchise will be shifted to Milwaukee for the start of the 1970 season.

VOTES

The sources said the current owners, headed by William R. Daley of Cleveland, have the nine American League votes necessary to assure the transfer and the move will be approved at a league meeting Tuesday morning in Tampa, Fla.

In Milwaukee, Allan "Bud" Selig, head of Milwaukee Brewers, Inc., the group which will acquire the Pilots, said he would be in Tampa for Tuesday's meeting, but added: "It has been our policy for six months not to commit until things are formally settled."

'NEWS TO ME'

American League President Joe Cronin said early today in Sarasota, Fla., that the imminent franchise shift was "all news to me. I don't have any information. No vote has been taken. You have more information on this than I have."

Any franchise shift undoubtedly would be followed by a court battle. In fact, a show cause hearing is scheduled in Seattle on Thursday on a temporary restraining order restricting actions aimed at moving the Pilots out of town.

The order was granted on a suit by Alfred J. Schweppe, a Seattle attorney. The action also named the Bank of California, where Schweppe said his check for two 1970 season tickets was deposited. Schweppe said the suit enjoins the present owners from doing anything to move the franchise before Thursday.

He said the suit does not enjoin the American League from approving the transfer, but does bar action by the owners to carry it out.

MAP PLANS

Also last week, Seattle, King County and the State of Washington all mapped plans to join in a number of suits aimed at keeping the Pilots in Seattle.

U.S. Sens. Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, both Washington Democrats, reportedly were ready to introduce legislation in the Congress that would remove baseball's immunity from antitrust laws.

This will mark the second time Milwaukee has become the home of a transplanted baseball team shortly before a new season. The Braves' moved out of Boston four weeks before the start of the 1953 campaign.

Daley, the Pilots' principal owner, and his associates paid the American League $6 million for the franchise, which began play last season. They reportedly spent an additional $2 million getting the team and facilities ready.

ATTENDANCE

But the Pilots needed an attendance of 850,000 to break even and drew only 677,944 in antiquated Sicks' Stadium, which seats 28,500. Milwaukee's County Stadium holds 47,000.

Adding to the Pilots' woes, only last Friday a group of Seattle businessmen, rebuffed a month ago in their efforts to buy the team, rejected the American League's proposal to resubmit their non-profit purchase plan with some modifications.

Seals Win, But Trail By A Point

OAKLAND (AP) — A pair of fifth-place but solid playoff contending teams will take the ice Wednesday night when the Montreal Canadiens visit the Oakland Seals.

Oakland came from behind in Sunday's game against Philadelphia, beating the Flyers 2-1 for their first National Hockey League win in nine games. But the Seals failed to gain on fourth-place Minnesota as the North Stars, one point in front of them, topped New York 4-2.

The Flyers took the lead in the first period on Simon Nolet's 20th goal of the season. But Bill Hicke tied it up for the Seals in the second.

With less than four minutes remaining in the game, veteran right wing Gary Ehman got his 10th goal of the season when he and left wing Gary Jarrett broke loose on center ice.

Jarrett passed to Ehman just as defenseman Larry Hillman stumbled, giving them a two-on-one advantage over the goalie. Ehman scored from 15 feet out.

Marin Prep Nines Win Three Of 7

Three victories in seven games was the Marin County Athletic League's record for inter-league baseball competition Saturday.

Terra Linda overcame a 5-0 deficit after the first two innings to bury Montgomery at Santa Rosa, 15-5; San Marin split a doubleheader with Galileo at San Francisco, both games ending in 2-0 scores; Tamalpais divided a twin bill with Hogan at Vallejo, the Marin team winning the nightcap 4-2 after losing a 5-2 opener; Novato dropped a 6-2 decision to Bishop O'Dowd High at Oakland and Marin Catholic was a 9-5 loser to Rancho Cotate at Rohnert Park.

At Santa Rosa, Terra Linda pitcher Scott Seefeldt survived a rocky start and his Trojans, led by Mike Ditto, Rick Payne and Larry Kerr, roared from behind to post their third victory against one loss. Payne drove in three runs with a double and single, Larry Kerry cracked a two-run triple and Ditto had a double and single.

Five San Marin errors gave Gallileo its 2-0 game victory but the Mustangs rebounded with 2-0 nightcap win as centerfielder Jim Thompson drove home both runs on a pair of singles.

Starting San Marin pitcher Wade Gomes gave up one single in the first five innings and Dennis Bueler pitched the sixth and seventh without yielding a hit.

San Marn's pitching staff now has given up only three earned runs in the last 44 innings of play.

James McCammon's triple and double and Bill Secor's 11-strikout pitching carried Tamalpais to its second game truimph over Hogan after the Indians were held to just three hits in the opener.

Errors — five of them — ruined Novato and victimized Hornet pitcher Jeff deRecat who pitched well enough to win, allowing only two hits. O'Dowd exploded for five runs in the fourth inning on three errors and a grand slam home run. Outfielder Dave Judnik slapped a fifth inning homer for Novato.

Marin Catholic made four errors against Rancho Cotate. The winners were led by Lou Goring, Mike Wlodarczyk and Pete Callinan, each with two hits. Mike Parnow had two singles

Dick Lotz Really On A Hot Streak

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Dick Lotz of Hayward turned to golf because he was told to, almost quit and wouldn't want to do it all over again.

"Our dad told us to stick to golf and stay away from baseball," the personable, 27-year-old Lotz said Sunday after scoring his biggest victory in the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament.

Lotz, the son of a former Pacific Coast League pitcher, came on the tour along with brother John in 1964 and didn't make more than $3,000 in his next three seasons.

'MISERABLE'

"It was pretty miserable," he said. "If I had to do it over again, well, I don't think I'd do it."

He won about $15,000 the next year—"just about made expenses" vaulted to $23,000 the next season, $38,000 last year, including a victory in the $50,000 Alameda County Open, and then came into his own this season.

"For the last four weeks, he's been the best player on the tour—head and shoulders above everyone else," said Ron Cerrudo, a long-time friend and the man who beat him for the title in the San Antonio Open.

Lotz was second in that one, skipped the next tournament and finished fourth last week. That gave him winnings of $49,000 in his last three starts and pushed him into the No. 1 spot on the money winning list at $54,000.

STREAK

"I've got a good streak going," he said. "Everything seems to be working out for me."

Lotz, who has been under 70 in 10 of his last 11 competive rounds, had a final 68 and finished at 275, nine under par and three strokes ahead of Dave Stockton, who took second with a 67.

Lotz started the day in a tie for the top with veteran Bill Collins, took sole control when Collins bogeyed the first hole and

New Mexico State Next Foe For UCLA Cagers

SEATTLE (AP) — The UCLA Bruins only want to do their thing again, but coach John Wooden says the trouble is they now have to face a team that won't let by-gones be by-gones.

Wooden was looking ahead to the NCAA basketball semifinals Thursday at College Park, Md. He started looking forward after looking back at Curtis Rowe's and Sidney Wicks' tremendously equal efforts in the Bruins' 101-79 victory over the Utah State Aggies Saturday in the Western Regionals.

CLIMB

The Bruins, five-time national champions, continue their climb toward a fourth straight title against New Mexico State Thursday.

"New Mexico State has been waiting for this opportunity," Wooden said. "We've put them out of the regionals in the last two years. Now all those players who were sophomores and juniors are seniors and I know they're going to be really inspired."

Aggies coach LaDell Andersen has lost to both teams. He figures the New Mexico State Aggies have the talent to give the Bruins a tough time, with or without inspiration.

"I'd rate it no more than a toss-up," Andersen said. "New Mexico State has to rate the edge inside. They are a very strong team, but they also have good quickness and fine outside shooting from Jimmy Collins and Charley Criss."

INSIDE

If New Mexico State has the inside edge, then it has some kind of inside. It was the Bruins' inside of Wicks and Rowe that turned a tenacous first half into a runaway, despite the awesome performance of Utah State's Marv Roberts.

Roberts scored 33 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. He was so tough to handle in the first half he sent Wicks to the bench early with three fouls. With Roberts rampaging and Wicks waiting, the Aggies and Bruins exchanged the lead 13 times in the first half.

"The turning point came after Wicks had three fouls," Wooden said. "I shifted Rowe onto Roberts defensively and then he went out and widened the gap. I'd say this was a real fine game for Rowe."

The score was tied for the last time at 44-all with two minutes left in the first half. Rowe scored four points as the Bruins hit seven straight for a 51-44 halftime lead. The Bruins were just plain brutal in the second half.

26 POINTS

Wicks came back and never got called for another foul. He ended tied with Rowe with 26 points. Rowe also had 16 rebounds. Then John Vallely, scoreless in the first half, added 14 points. With the game safe Wooden sent in the reserves and let the starters contemplete New Mexico State.

Santa Clara edged Long Beach State 89-86 in the consolation game when Ralph Ogden put them ahead with two last-minute free throws and an insurance field goal. Dennis Awtrey had 37 points for the Broncos. George Trapp, who fouled out with six precious minutes left, had 17 points for the losing 49ers.

BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

Surprising Jacksonville

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Artis Gilmore and Pembrook Burrows, Jacksonville's two 7-footers, suddenly look a lot taller to St. Bonaventure.

The Bonnies, shattered by the loss of All-American center Bob Lanier, are suddenly the underdogs against Jacksonville in their NCAA semifinal Thursday night (7:40 p.m., EST) a College Park, Md.

The fourth-ranked Dolphins, college basketball's Cinderella team, surprised top-ranked Kentucky 106-100 Saturday to reach the round of four, while the Bonnies beat Villanova 97-94.

Lanier was injured midway through the second half, after scoring 26 points in the East Regional final at Columbia, S.C. Lanier underwent successful surgery for torn ligaments in his right knee Sunday in Buffalo, N.Y.

The Bonnies, 25-1, went through most of the season using only six men. With Lanier out, the tallest, 6-foot-5 forward Matt Gantt, has shifted to center.

The Dolphins, bouyed by their stunning victory over Kentucky, in the Mideast Regional finals at Colombier, Ohio, now are only two steps away from a shot at the national championship, with UCLA the probable opponent in the final game next Saturday afternoon.

The Bruins, striving for their fourth straight national title, routed Utah State 101-79 in the West Regional final at Seattle. The second-ranked Bruins, 26-2, face fifth-ranked New Mexico State, which whipped Drake 87-78 in the Midwest Regional finals at Lawrence, Kan.

In the NIT tournament in New York, Sunday, Pistol Pete Maravich dropped two foul shots with nine seconds left to play in LSU's 83-82 first-round nailbiter against Georgetown. Those two clutch shots won it for LSU, in what otherwise was a lacklustre game for Maravich. He scored only 20 points, the second lowest total of his three-year varsity career.

In the other NIT game Sunday, Oklahoma edged Louisville 74-73, with the Sooners' Garfield Heard collecting 34 points.

In Saturday NIT games, eighth-ranked Marquette, which turned down a bid to the NCAA, beat Massachusetts 62-55; Manhattan shocked North Carolina 95-90; Army upset Cincinnati 72-67, and Utah defeated Duke 78-75.

Georgia Tech meets St. John's in tonight's quarter-finals and Manhattan faces Army. In quarter-final games Tuesday night, Utah takes on Marquette and LSU clashes with Oklahoma.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Dodger Rookie's Big Day

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Stinson's awesome power display Sunday might have won him a job with the Los Angeles Dodgers but it certainly didn't help Mike Whitson's chances any.

Stinson, a rookie catcher trying to stick with the parent Dodgers, crashed two home runs in one inning—an explosive nine-run 17th inning—leading the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 14-6 exhibition baseball victory over the Washington Senators.

A switch hitter, Stinson, batting left-handed, opened the big inning with a slam over the right field wall off Whitson. As the Dodgers batted around, Stinson came up again and bombed another clout, this one a two-run shot, capping the uprising. And again it was off right-hander Whitson, who absorbed all the punishment in the inning.

Stinson, who hit .281 at Spokane last year, cracked only six homers for the Pacific Coast League club in 117 games and none in a brief stay with the Dodgers at the end of the season.

In another wild extra inning affair, the Oakland A's, exploded for seven runs in the 11th inning in stopping Seattle's B squad 12-7. Joe Rudi, Tito Francona and rookie Jim Driscoll slammed homers for the A's.

Non-roster rookie catcher Bart Zeller drilled an 11th inning single, snapping a 1-1 tie and sending the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. Another receiver, veteran John Edwards, knocked in the winner with an eight-inning single in Houston's 5-4 victory over Minnesota. It was the winless Twins eighth sraight loss.

Ron Woods slammed a two-run triple in the 11th inning, sending the New York Yankees to a 9-8 triumph over Montreal. Ron Fairly belted a home run for the Expos.

The Chicago Cubs rode the home run punch of Johnny Callison and Billy Williams to a 7-5 decision over San Francisco.

Seattle exploded for seven runs in the fourth inning and coasted past San Diego, 8-1.

Danny Breeden's run-scoring single capped a three-run ninth inning flurry by Cincinnati in the Reds' 7-6 triumph over the New York Mets. Joe Foy had a homer for New York.

Bob Robertson knocked in one run and Angel Manuel two as the Pittsburgh Pirates came up with three ninth inning tallies in their 6- 4 victory over Mexico City.

Bob Mitchell's RBI single in the eighth inning proved the winner as Atlanta swept past Baltimore 8-7. The Braves got home runs from Orlando Cepeda, Rico Carty and Hank Aaron. It was Aaron's fifth of the spring.

Deron Johnson and Larry Hisle supplied the power in Philadelphia's 7-5 triumph over Kansas City. Johnson slammed two homers and Hisle one.

Gary Peters, Lee Stange and Jose Santiago limited Detroit to three hits and Rico Petrocelli led Boston's attack with four hits in the Red Sox 4-1 victory over the Tigers.

The Cleveland Indians got six third-inning runs and coasted to a 6-3 victory over California.

Athletics Romp; Face Cubs Today

The A's scored seven runs in the top of the 11th Sunday to overwhelm the rookie-studded Pilot team to win 12-7.

Oakland was behind 5-2 going into the ninth, but Jimmy Driscoll knotted it with a three-run homer. Other homers were clouted for the A's by Joe Rudi in the second and Tito Francona in the fifth.

The score was tied 2-2 in the seventh when leadoff man Fred Stanley drew a walk off Jim "Mudcat" Grant. Then Floyd Wicker singled and Odis McCowan hit a two run triple and scored on a single by Chico Vaughns.

Grant pitched the routine exhibition three innings and Marcel Lachemann arrived eventually to become the winning pitcher.

The A's rained 17 hits in the game, which lasted 3 hours and 21 minutes.

Giants' Bob Garibaldi Having A Rough Time

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The season hasn't even started, but already the San Francisco Giants' bonus rookie pitcher Bob Garibaldi is having a bad year.

Hit hard in previous exhibition encounters, Garibaldi had three runs scored off him in the seventh inning as the Giants lost 7-5 Sunday to the Chicago Cubs. San Francisco took on the Seattle Pilots' B Team today.

Garibaldi, brought up from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League, also gave up a run in the sixth.

The Giants rallied with two runs with two out in the ninth inning, but the rally fell short.

Hitting homers for the Cubs, who led all the way, were Johnny Callison and Billy Williaws.

Watching the game was a capacity crowd of 5,464.

In the ninth inning surge, San Francisco outfielder Steve Whitaker singled and took second on a wild pitch. He sprinted home on a single by Tito Fuentes, who then scored on a double by Dick Dietz.

Dietz also doubled in the sixth and scored on a single by first baseman Bob Burda.

After the game, first baseman Willie McCovey returned to San Francisco to receive eye treatment at University of California Medical Center. Doctors said he is suffering from inflamation of the retina.

McCovey continued batting practice until the day before his departure, but said he wouldn't engage in play until his eye problem is cleared up.

Lanier's Future Is Still Bright

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—B Lanier's career with St. Bon enture's college basketball te may have ended premature but his future as a pro is st bright.

This was the verdict of d tors at Buffalo General Hospi Sunday after they operated o the 6-11 All-American center f torn ligaments in his right knee

"The procedure went well an there is no reason evident tha would prevent his return t competitive athletics," said a hospital spokesman after the op eration.

Lanier will have his leg in a cast while the third-ranked Bonnies take on Jacksonville in the NCAA finals. He injured his leg Saturday during his team's 97-74 victory over Villanova.

The New York Nets of the American Basketball Association are said to be ready to offer Lanier—their number one draft pick—$1.5 million for his services. The rival National Basketball Association has yet to enter the biding.

was in command the rest of the way. He stretched his lead to four strokes at one point and the last challenge failed when Ray Floyd bogeyed the 16th hole and took a double bogey six on the 17th.

Floyd finished with a 72 for 280. British Open champ Tony Jacklin, with a 71, and Homero Blancas, with a sparkling 64, tied at 281, followed by John Miller and Bob Charles, 282.

South African Gary Player had a 73 for 283 and Arnold Palmer had a 69 for 284. Collins, troubled with an aching ankle, limped in with a fat 78 and finished well back at 285.

CONFIDENCE

"It took an awful long time to gain the confidence you need," Lotz said of his early years on the tour.

"I think the confidence started coming after I won last year. After that I started getting paired with tournament winners and could watch what they were doing.

"Then I started beating some of them and you think, 'I can beat these guys.' Confidence. That's so much of it," he said.

He didn't falter Sunday, pulling away with birdies on three of four holes starting at the fourth. He saved par with a pair of beautiful chips on 11 and 12, and took his only bogey on the 15th, three putting. But he bounced back on the next hole, putting an eight iron four feet from the flag.

But the biggest, Lotz said, was a 10-foot, par-saving putt on the next hole that kept him two strokes ahead.

No one can ever find out anything from your census form

No one? No one! All the information you enter on your Census Form is a private matter between you and our computer. Even your age.

You get your Census Form in the mail and fill it out yourself. Only sworn employees of the Census Bureau see your form. And their lips are sealed. Besides, all they do is feed the forms into a computer.

So much depends on Census figures. Like aid to schools, housing, medical services, jobs, and such. When you fill in your Census Form, remember, it's as private as your vote. And just as important.

We can't know where we're going if we don't know where we are.

LIQUORI IS UPSET

Kansas Wins Indoor Track Title

DETROIT (AP) — Last year it was Marty Liquori, the underdog, winning the cheers of the sellout crowd at the NCAA indoor Track and Field championships in Detroit.

This year it was Marty Liquori, the favorite, getting only mild applause from another capacity crowd of more than 9,400 at Cobo Arena rooting for someone to beat him in the mile run.

And that's exactly what happened.

Liquori, the Villanova star who finished second to Jim Ryun of Kansas in a photo finish in the 1969 meet, didn't capitalize on his top billing and finished second to the 4:03.1 clocking by Howell Michael of William and Mary.

Second place for Liquori meant two points less and second place for Villanova, which could have grabbed its first indoor title with a victory. The Wildcats finished the two day, 17-event meet with 28 points compared with 27½ for first place Kansas, the defending champion.

"I don't know what it was, I just didn't run a good race," said the disappointed Liquori, who ran a 3:57.7 outdoor mile last year.

Kansas, which notched its third team crown in the meet's six year history, won the two-mile relay Saturday in a world indoor record shattering time of 7:25.7 seconds. The old mark for an 11-lap track was set by Villanova with 7:27.4 in 1964.

A World record was tied Saturday by Michigan State's Herb Washington, who won the 60-yard dash in 5.9.

Besides the two World marks and Salb's shot put, Tom Hill of Arkansas State clipped a tenth of a second off the NCAA record with a 6.9 in the 60-yard high hurdles.

Marin Girls Team To Win In Doubles

Bee Kilgore and Anne LaMott, both of Tiburon, won the girls' 16 age division doubles championship yesterday in the finals of the Menlo Park Junior Hardcourt Tennis Tournmanet. They defeated Mary Miller of Menlo Park and Barbara Coughlin of Modesto in the finals, 6-2, 4-6 and 7-5.

All Marin Teams Lose CYO Finals

Marin County drew a blank in Catholic Youth Organization basketball yesterday, all five Marin teams losing in the finals of the San Francisco Archdiocese championships at Riordan High School in San Francisco.

The Marin losers were St. Rita's of Fairfax in the eighth grade finals; St. Raphael's of San Rafael, seventh grade; St. Isabella's (Terra Linda), sixth grade; Blessed Sacrament (Santa Venetia), fifth grade; St. Anselm's (San Anselmo), fourth grade.

Mrs. Zepponi Wins In Mill Valley Golf

Mrs. William Zepponi won the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club's Iron Tournament Friday with a net score of 85-22—63, followed by Mrs. R. S. McDannold with 84-17—67.

Mrs. Roy Wilkie won Class B with 98-31—67 and Mrs. J. M. McManus took Class C with 108-35—73.

Marin Tars Lose Again

College of Marin's baseball team was still looking for its first Camino Norte Conference victory today following the Tars' third consecutive league setback Saturday, 7-1, to West Valley Junior College of Campbell, at Kentfield.

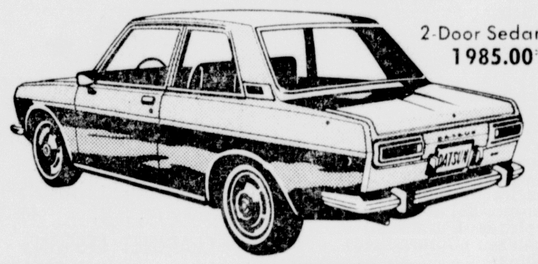

Five errors helped kill the Tars who travel to San Pablo Wednesday to tackle Contra Costa College.

Ken Lazzarini and Ken Roby, each with two hits, led Marin's eight-hit attack Saturday.

Laos Crisis Poses Nixon Threat

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao offensive which has captured the Plain of Jars represents a serious test of President Nixon's Southeast Asia policy.

The enemy offensive started in mid-February, and by the start of March it had succeeded in driving government troops from the Plain of Jars, as well as strategically important airstrips at Xieng Khouang and Muong Soui, and had started shelling with mortars the Laotian royal capital of Luang Prabang.

Sam Thong, an important supply distribution center for the northern portion of Laos and the base for American advisers and air supply operations, was threatened by the enemy advance, as was Long Cheng, the headquarters of Laotian Gen. Van Pao, who commands a force of 10,000 soldiers paid and trained by the United States.

The soldiers commanded by Vang Pao, all Meo tribesmen, put up little resistance at each phase of the North Vietnamese-Pathet Lao advance, retreating first to the foothills around the plain, then from Muong Soui to Long Cheng. The government forces took a defensive stance along what became known as the Vang Pao Line in an effort to protect Sam Thong and Long Cheng.

A continued enemy advance was seen as a threat to an important highway intersection controlling road traffic between the administrative capital at Vientiane and Luang Prabang, 140 miles to the north.

Adm. John S. McCain, American commander in the Pacific said in Saigon recently that the enemy "continues to conduct the most determined aggresive campaign in Laos since the 1962 Geneva accords. The present deteriorating situation is of serious concern to us."

The Geneva agreement to which McCain referred supposedly imposed a truce between warring factions and tried to guarantee a neutral government in Laos. But the agreement broke down and fighting between the Pathet Lao, supported by North Vietnam, and the Vientiane government supported by the United States, has continued on and off ever since.

Neither the United States nor North Vietnam has ever admitted on an official level that it has a military presence in the divided country. To do so would be an admission of violation of the Geneva agreement.

The North Vietnamese-Pathet Lao domination of the Plain of Jars, 100 miles north of Vientiane, is not a new phenomenon in Laos. The enemy troops were driven from the area in a surprising government offensive last autumn for the first time in four years.

Prior to that, the North Vietnamese had managed to gain control over the highways between the two capitals, during an offensive last summer.

Laos plays an important role in the Vietnam war, and many observers are convinced it is a mistake to separate what Laotian Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma calls the "forgotten war" from the events in South Vietnam.

The eastern half of the nation is fully dominated by the Pathet Lao with North Vietnamese support. In addition, the enemy controls a major portion of the northern part of the country.

Situated just to the west of North Vietnam and extending along the western border of the northern portion of South Vietnam, Laos is an effective supply corridor for North Vietnamese troops and supplies into the south. The Ho Chi Minh trail enters Laos north of the demilitarized zone and enters south Vietnam from Laos at a number of penetration points.

Some observers see the latest North Vietnamsee drive as an effort to assert Communist dominance over all of Laos, and others even believe it represents an ultimate North Vietnamese aim to establish a base for infiltration and subversion in Thailand, to the west of Laos.

But others believe the only aim of the North Vietnamese is to see to it that the Ho Chi Minh Trail leading through Laos into South Vietnam is not disturbed. They see the recent offensive as just the latest round in a yearly cycle that starts when the Communists make advances during the dry season and abandon their gains when the summer rains make supply and support of their troops impossible.

Of some concern in the latest drive is the fact that the North Vietnamese have managed to get almost as far this year as they did last year—but months earlier. And that, some observers believe, gives them an edge of several months to make further gains before the rainy season sets in.

Airman Injured In Car Accident

An airman from Hamilton Air Force Base was injured in a three-car accident at 12:35 p.m., Saturday on Highway 101 north of De Long Avenue, Novato police reported.

A/1C Herman L. Genery, 22, of 258 Marin Road on the base, was treated at the base hospital for a cut over his right eye.

Police reported that the northbound Genery car hit the rear of a stopped car belonging to Alexander V. Matos, 46, of Atwater, Merced County, knocking it into the rear of a stopped car belonging to Donald A. Blanchard, 34, of Pacifica.

Flower Arranging

The Chrysanthemum Society of Marin has announced it will hold classes on flower arranging prior to each regular monthly meeting on the first Monday at 8 p.m. in Crocker-Citizens National Bank, San Rafael. The classes will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Closed Terra Linda Rec Session Slated

The Terra Linda Recreation and Park District board will meet in closed session at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Terra Linda fire station to discuss hiring and firing of personnel, according to trustee Cecilia Martz.

At 9 p.m. the board will meet with the community services district board to discuss a possible merger.

Brusatori's Statement: Not Ired

San Rafael Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori reported today that his views were misrepresented in a headline in Friday's Independent-Journal which said he was ired by a labor leader's talk

Brusatori said today, "I wasn't ired at all. I was merely answering a reporter's questions about the reasons for police preparations for a possible demonstration planned March 7 by students in the vicinity of the Independent-Journal."

Last Tuesday, Charles B. Weers, secretary of the Marin County Labor Council, had called police preparations "foolish" saying he did not believe anything was planned by Students for a Democratic Society, which had appealed to students on several campuses to demonstrate in support of San Francisco Typographical Union 21's strike against the Independent-Journal.

While calling the story in Friday's paper accurate "except for the headline," Brusatori said, "The San Rafael Police Department takes no sides in this dispute. It's only job is to see that peace and order are maintained in the streets."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Parents Exert Great Influence On Youngster's Emotional Fate

The strength of a child's personality is determined largely by the amount of love he receives from his parents, whether or not they impose realistic limitations on his behavior, and if they let him grow up.

Anything parents can do to make the tyke smile, relieve his distress, and increase his self-esteem is most helpful. After all, well-adjusted children become productive adults.

According to Dr. Robert E. Kay the best way to rear a child is to treat him the way you wish to be treated. Respect him as an individual with feelings.

EVERY CHILD HAS a strong inborn need to identify with adults he admires. But in letting him mature, remember, he progresses best when he feels he is ready. Youngsters eventually adopt parental values, and from mutual respect comes decent behavior.

Much of our behavior is learned through imitation. Parents do not teach the child to speak, he learns when he is spoken to. Correcting words that are mispronounced is more likely to cause stuttering than fluent speech. Therefore, it should be done tactfully.

Courtesy also is the product of imitation and cannot be taught at too early an age. Cooperativeness develops much later and varies from child to child.

PREJUDICE IS ANOTHER trait a child gets from his parents. He may break laws and smoke if his parents do. There are many other things youngsters learn through imitating rather than training. We talk about toilet training, but most children will use these facilities eventually because their parents use them.

Training hastens the process, but there is always the risk of creating problems when to much pressure is applied.

TRUTHFULNESS DEVELOPS when honesty is practiced in the home. There is a right and a wrong way to behave, but the former should always be stressed as the only way.

None of us is perfect. By admitting his own weaknesses, the parent gains the child's respect.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

'BUTTONS' NOT BRAWN

J. writes: You have said that automation softens muscles but I cannot find the word automation in my dictionary. Please explain the meaning of this term.

REPLY

The latest edition of Merriam Webster's carries the word. The meaning, as given, is: "Automatically controlled operation of an apparatus, process, or system, by mechanical or electronic devices that take the place of human organs of observation, effort, and decision."

'ORGAN' RECITALS

Miss J. writes: Whenever one of my friends starts telling about her operation, my stomach gets queasy and I almost faint. Is there any way to stop this embarrassing situation?

REPLY

Excuse yourself, explaining why. If your friend is not sympathetic, she is not a real friend. Furthermore, "organ" recitals can be boring.

CONTAGIOUS PNEUMONIA

C. B. writes: Is pneumonia catching?

REPLY

The causative bacteria or viruses responsible for pneumonia may be transmitted to another person, but the individual does not necessarily develop pneumonia. The reaction to the exposure may be a cold or an attack of bronchitis.

GOITER AND VISION

V. R. writes: Can a large goiter affect the eyesight?

REPLY

No, but the eyes may be affected. Bulging occurs in exophthalmic goiter.

Stereo Tapes Stolen

Stereo tapes valued at $70 were reported taken from the auto of Bryan K. Massey of 58 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, while the car was parked in his driveway Tuesday night, sheriff's deputies reported Saturday.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

All Tastes Covered In A Very Special Weekend

NEW YORK (AP) — The television networks lined up a busy and varied schedule of entertainment specials over the weekend, with something interesting for just about every taste.

There was Sunday night's "To Confuse the Angel," an original drama by Loring Mandel, on NBC. This was the story of an aging family doctor who had devoted his life to his work and his patients at the expense of his family. He was facing, but resisting, retirement.

Lee J. Cobb played the gruff physician whose experiences had turned him from his religion to agnosticism. Then he started to move toward a faith when his daughter-in-law's illness was not, as he feared, serious.

The hour was given texture by Cobb's fine performance and by scenes of Jewish family life.

Earlier on NBC, there was a fantastic two-hour production of Charles Dickens' "David Copperfield." The greatest stars of the British stage performed, for the most part, in secondary roles. They included Dame Edith Evans, who came close to stealing the show, Sir Laurence Olivier, Sir Ralph Richardson, Wendy Hiller and Michael Redgrave.

"The Ballad of the Iron Horse" on ABC Sunday evening was an affectionate recreation of the great days of the American railroads.

NBC's "Switched-on Symphony" Saturday night was a colorful—very literally colorful—attempt to blend and to make a relationship between classic music and contemporary rock; between a symphony orchestra and some of the current instrumental and singing groups.

It hardly succeeded in tying the two together, but taken as a whole it was a stimulating and surprisingly entertaining program.

"Neither Are We Enemies," NBC's "Hall of Fame" Easter show Friday night, told the story of Judean resistance to Roman occupation in the time of Christ in terms of youth versus age, hot-headed impatient revolutionaries versus mature conservatives who wanted to resist but under law and order.

Killer Whale's Scream May Be Shark-Chaser

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The scream of a killer whale is enough to make a California gray whale turn tail and run, Navy scientists say. Now the scientists want to find out whether that chilling scream would protect man from sharks.

Scientists reported today on a two-year study in which they hurled amplified recordings of the shrill, piercing scream into the path of migrating gray whales.

In 95 per cent of the experiments involving 135 gray whales, the mammals either turned out to sea quickly or hid under a kelp bed.

The naval Undersea Research and Development Center, which conducted the research, now is assigning scientists to find out whether the scream will scare away sharks and other predators. Dr. William C. Cummings says an answer may be found in the next few months.

Besides the scream, the scientists recorded and blared out to sea a variety of loud noises as well as a pure tone of the same frequency as the killer whale's scream.

Marin Transit Plan Now Is Held Crucial

Marin County cannot afford to hope and wait for one rapid transit system to solve its growing commuter problem but instead must utilize to the fullest all potential transportation systems.

This thought was hammered home with jackhammer-like repetition by transit experts and public officials at the day-long transportation forum held Saturday in Marin Civic Center.

Approximately 120 persons heard the speakers urge maximum utilization of commuter buses, ferries and car pools not only as immediate methods of easing current rush-hour congestion but also as a long-term answer to the county's transit headaches.

Even with the eventual establishment of a rail rapid transit system, it will be necessary to augment it with buses, cars and ferries, the experts said.

To accomplish this, Supervisor Michael Wornum urged the construction of a "transit deck" addition to the Golden Gate Bridge, to be used solely by buses during the weekday but open to cars on weekends to facilitate the rush to Marin County's beach areas.

He admitted the second deck concept was an "emotional issue" but said its usage by buses only would remove San Francisco's objections to flooding the city with even more cars.

Proponents of increased bus service also got surprising support from San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, who was the day's keynote speaker despite his city's labor problems.

Alioto told the forum he was not opposed to increased commuter busing and would appear at the March 26 meeting of the San Francisco transit committee and urge that committee's support for finding ways of utilizing more bus service.

Alioto called for regional planning of transit and called for the establishment of a trust fund for rapid transit. He said the "auto people have had too much power for many years."

He said he would also support increased ferries and had already urged San Francisco officials to plan for future docking facilities on the San Francisco side of the bay.

He said he doubted if any single rapid transit system would be a cure for Marin County because the county's commuters are spread over such a vast area.

He did rule out any type of conventional freeway running through the Marine District and linking with the Embarkadero Freeway, although he said an underground freeway was being studied.

Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District, told the forum that he expects today's 30,000 commuters to jump to 47,000 by 1980 and 73,000 by 1990. He said last month alone, the number of commuters had increased eight per cent. Luehring and Wornum both said they were encouraged by Alioto's announcement that he would support increased busing to San Francisco. Luehring told Independent-Journal that he would propose a new "car pool" idea at Thursday's meeting of

San Francisco's Employees Agree To End 4-Day Strike

Terms Undisclosed In Tentative Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mayor Joseph L. Alioto hammered out an agreement with striking employes early today to end a four-day strike which had shut down the city's transit and school systems.

The all-night negotiations broke up after dawn and the city called its public transit drivers back to work. A few streetcars, which had been idle since Friday, began rolling by mid-morning.

The last of four striking unions ordered its members to stop picketing about two hours after the tentative agreement was reached.

TWO-HOUR CAUCUS

Local 400 of the City County Employes Union, the largest striking union, held a two-hour caucus before deciding to submit the settlement to a vote of its members. The union which had insisted the strike was not over after other locals pulled their pickets, said it too would withdraw pickets until after its membership voted this afternoon.

Alioto announced the settlement and said he expects city operations to return to normal by midday.

He refused to disclose terms of the agreement, saying only that it was "responsible and reasonable," providing a cost-of-living increase while holding the line against inflation.

But he did say that the unions had won their chief demand—retention of a "seniority" pay increase of 5 per cent a year granted employes during their first four years with the city. The item, which costs an estimated $2.4 million a year, had been cut by the city supervisors.

THEY WALKED

The city had offered 14,000 employees a $4.8 million—or 5 per cent—pay hike. The unions had demanded $9.5 million — about 10 per cent.

The agreement came too late for the 400,000 daily passengers of the Municipal Railway system. They walked, biked, drove and hitchhiked to work, creating a massive traffic jam in the downtown area during the morning. The parking problem was even worse than on Friday because police had to keep bus and streetcar lanes clear after the settlement was reached.

John Jeffrey, head of Local 400, told newsmen he was not fully satisfied with the agreement, which was reached during an all-night negotiating session. The leaders of the big union apparently were concerned the settlement did not specify the pay scales of some of the workers it repesentes. But the picket lines were called off until the membership decides.

Members of the city board of supervisors were called from their homes at 3 a.m. to join final stages of the talks. They must vote the agreement into law at their afternoon meeting.

GETTING READY FOR NOTHING

Members of the Marine Corps Reserve's M Company of Marin County donned parachutes Saturday at Hamilton Air Force Base in preparation for a flight to Camp Pendelton which never got off the ground. Two other planes carried reserves south for the weekend training excursion, but this one, built in 1947, developed engine trouble prior to takeoff. The men returned to the armed forces training center in Santa Venetia where they occupied themselves with household chores such as mopping floors. The plane returned to Seattle later Saturday. ## Policy In Laos Is Explained

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson told senators today that the Nixon administration would at least get a congressional consensus before it ever sent ground troops into Laos—which it says it has no intention of doing.

Richardson testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which is considering a proposal to repeal the Tonkin Gulf resolution cited by President Lyndon B. Johnson as authority for the big increase in U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Richardson, questioned about the U.S. role now in Laos, stressed that the United States has "no plan" to send combat troops there. "But I can't foreclose the options the President might assume under difference circumstances," he said.

Richardson was told by chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., that Secretary of State William P. Rogers told the committee two weeks ago that "advance approval" of Congress would be needed for such a contingency.

The No. 2 State Department official said such advance approval might mean only that Congress would be notified and failure to take action to stop use of ground forces would be taken as congressional approval of the action.

As for current U.S. bombing in Laos, Richardson said the administration was operating under a policy inherited from the Johnson administration and did not feel any congressional action was needed to continue the air strikes against Communist forces.

He referred to an amendment to a military appropriations bill which would ban use of ground troops in Laos. Richardson noted that moves to include a ban on American air support in Laos were not adopted.

Kosygin To Nixon: Stop Laos Raids

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin told the United States today the first step towards any attempt to restore peace in Laos must be an end to American bombing raids.

Until the bombing stops, Kosygin said it would be "unrealistic" for him to consider President Nixon's request the Soviet Union and Britain attempt to end the fighting in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Kosygin placed much of the blame for the war between government and Communist forces in Laos on the United States. He made no mention of North Vietnamese military support for the Communist Pathet Lao.

(Nixon said recently that 67,000 North Vietnamese soldiers are operating in Laos.)

Nixon, in a message to Kosygin, had asked Moscow and London, cochairmen of the 1962 Geneva Convention that proclaimed Laos neutral, to use their good offices among the treaty's signers to restore peace.

Moscow Radio, the news agency Tass and the Communist Party newspaper Pravda carried Kosygin's reply and said it had been delivered to U.S. authorities for forwarding to the White House.

Meanwhile in Vientiane, military sources today reported a fresh series of Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese attacks out of the Plain of Jars, one of them against Laos' main north-south highway.

The reports included delayed word from the field that North Vietnamese troops Friday overran three government outposts southwest of the plain, further expanding their control in the region.

This morning guerrilla soldiers attacked a Laotian Army outpost and bridge on Highway 13, the thoroughfare linking Vientiane with the royal capital at Luang Prabang, and heavily damaged the bridge.

Bolinas Trustee: A 'Deal'

Charges that three Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees "made a deal" with a teacher, suppressed witnesses against the teacher and were intimidated by a threat of recall were made today by the boards fourth trustee, Warren Fairbanks.

His attack came in the wake of the board's decision Friday night to offer contracts for next year to all six teachers who have indicated they wish to stay in the district. The decision came after the board's second four-hour closed meeting in two days.

The decision was voted 3-1, Fairbanks dissenting.

"I can't condone what took place at our meeting," he told the Independent-Journal today as he issued the following statement:

"I believe that it is incumbent upon me to let the people of our community know just what has transpired between the board and a teacher, of the deal that

BIG BUSINESS GETS RIBBING IN NEW PANEL

The world of big business gets a good-natured ribbing by Herb Stansbury in a new daily cartoon panel starting today on the business page (page 9) of the Independent-Journal.

Stansbury is the head of a business consulting firm in San Francisco.

Court Backs Plan To Halt Busing Order

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court today upheld the suspension of a federal court order calling for widespread additional busing of students in the Charlotte, N.C. area.

The court rejected an appeal by the NAACP's Legal Defense Fund, which had asked reinstatement of a busing order issued by Federal District Judge James B. Mc Millan of Charlotte, effective beginning April 1 for grade schools and May 4 for high schools.

The 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals suspended the order March 5. It instructed McMillan to submit further findings by March 20 on busing to improve the black-white balance in Charlotte, the state's largest city, and Mecklenburg County of which it is a part.

McMillan ordered the additional busing as part of an overall desegregation plan for the Charlotte-Mecklenburg district. The district school board has appealed the full plan to the 4th Circuit, and the court has scheduled hearings on the entire issue for April 9.

Under the busing order, the school board would have had to provide the additional transportation within the next two months.

The Legal Defense Fund took issue with the number of students affected, saying a court consultant had determined the number would be only about 14,000 students.

WILLIAM T. BAGLEY
Seeks Assembly reelection

Bagley Is Officially In The Race

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, today announced his candidacy for reelection to a sixth term and took out his nomination papers at Marin Civic Center.

Bagley, 41, has been in the Assembly since 1960. His district includes all of Marin and Southern Sonoma.

"The challenge of the '70s will be to create a better atmosphere in which people can live," Bagley said in a press statement.

"This means not only a better environmental atmosphere, but a better governmental atmosphere, a better taxation atmosphere and a better man-to-man understanding of the rights, duties and aspirations of man-

Crew Claims Hippies Called Mutiny Shots

SATTAHIP, Thailand (UPI)—The crew of the hijacked merchant ship Columbia Eagle told rescuers the 10,636-ton freighter loaded with bombs for Thailand was taken over by two "pill popping and marijuana blowing hippies, seamen aboard the rescue ship Rappahannock said today.

The Columbia Eagle was seized this weekend through a ruse that caused 24 crewmen to abandon ship in belief there was a time bomb aboard. The 24 men were picked up by the Rappahannock while the mutineers sailed the vessel to the Cambodian port of Sihanoukville.

Two crew members were identified with Marin County addresses. They were Herrick E. Morgan, chief mate, 816 Spring Street, Sausalito, and Walter M. Drabina, chief engineer, 2123 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

(It was reported in Washington the Cambodian government has granted asylum to two Americans who hijacked the freighter Columbia Eagle, the State Department said today.)

"They said they believed that the hijacking was done by a couple of hippies who had signed on. "They said the guys were popping pills and blowing marijuana all the way over and

Kortum Of Cotati Seeks Clausen Job

Dr. William Kortum, Cotati veterinarian and Sonoma County conservation leader, filed papers today as the first candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the June 2 primary election.

Kortum, member of the Petaluma Board of Education, made a flying tour of the First District, filing nomination papers in Santa Rosa, Napa, Ukiah, Eureka and Cresent City.

He is president and founder of Californians Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands (COAAST) and was active in local campaigns to acquire the Salt Point State Park site and for the location of a state college in Sonoma County.

Kortum is heading the fight of conservationists for state legislation to protect the coastline for use by the public.

"I am a doer and like a lot of others, I am bothered by the lack of action on the major issues of the day," Dr. Kortum said. "There is much that must be done in Congress—about inflation, high interest rates, wasteful military spending, the nationwide housing slump, the problems of local school dis-

Competition In Car Smog Plans Backed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, despite complaints by New York and other big cities, affirmed today a Los Angeles judge's decree requiring automobile manufacturers to compete in developing antipollution devices.

The court acted in a brief order, without opinion.

The Justice Department and the companies together worked out the decree, entered Oct. 28, 1969, by U.S. District Judge Jesse W. Curtis. The so-called consent judgment eliminated the need for a trial.

The civil suit was started by the department against the Automobile Manufacturers Association and General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors on Jan. 10, 1969.

New York City' appeal was supported by Los Angeles County, Baltimore, and the Pennsylvania cities of Philadelphia. Pittsgurgh, Scranton, Lancaster and Erie.
